NO. 285—SIXTY-THIRD YEAR

VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1921

TWENTY-TWO PAGES

COMMITTEE ROOM WILL HAVE MOST ARMAMENT WORK

Conference Adopts Plan of Holding Deliberations in Secret, With Issue of Subsequent Communications for Information of Public—Two Main Committees Decided Upon.

TODAY'S OPEN SESSION LIKELY TO BE LAST FOR SOME TIME

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Real work of the armament negotiations was transferred today from the open conference to the more secluded precincts of the committee room.

After a debate which developed widely separated views on the advisability of giving publicity to the negotiations, the "big five," comprising the chief delegates of the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, settled on the committee plan as the only acceptable solution.

To one committee, whose membership will be identical with that of the full conference, was assigned the task of working out a solution for Far Eastern questions. Another, composed of the delegates of the five Great Powers, was created to take over negotiations on the main topic of armament limitation. Since only delegates of the five Powers are qualified to act on armament limitation in the conference, the result in each case will be to resolve the delegates into "a committee of the whole."

Although no official would make a prediction prior to the assembling of the "new committees," the presumption everywhere tonight was that the meeting would be held behind closed doors, and that the public would get a glimpse of the proceedings only, when in their capacity as committeemen the delegates have an important decision to report to the conference.

CHARGES HEAD OF GAME BOARD

Mr. R. H. Pooley, Conservative Member for Esquimalt, Demands Inquiry by Select Committee of Legislature

Declaring that if the Government wanted specific charges before it would investigate the career of Government servants, he was quite ready to supply them.

Mr. R. H. Pooley, Conservative member for Esquimalt, yesterday afternoon made a number of definite charges against Dr. A. H. Baker, head of the Game Conservation Board, when, in moving his resolution for the appointment of a select committee of the House to investigate the career of the Game Board head, he made a number of serious allegations and asserted that what he was saying was but a fraction of the evidence which he held back.

The House listened to the member for Esquimalt with close attention, and while his speech covered a wide ground, its purport was readily appreciated by the members.

Hon. J. W. DeB. Farris rose at the conclusion of Mr. Pooley's remarks to plead that the bulk of what the latter had stated was more or less hearsay, and he would continue to reply to the statements of Mr. Pooley when he had more time to consider them.

Mr. Pooley's statement followed that made recently by Mr. H. Perry, Liberal member for Port George, in the debate on the Address in Reply to the Speech from the Throne, when the latter demanded investigation of the principle of which was later established when Mr. Bowser's charges against the Liquor Board brought the statement from the Premier that if a member of the House would make specific charges the Government would recognize them.

Mr. Pooley stated in his address yesterday that he, in his opinion, had come through with charges of a sufficiently specific nature to warrant the granting of his request for the appointment of the select committee of the House.

Demands Investigation
Referring to the allegations contained in the recent speech of Mr. H. O. Perry, Liberal member for Port George, who had roundly slated the administration of Dr. Baker, and to the demand by the Government for specific charges, Mr. Pooley outlined the Attorney-General should know something of the conduct of his chairman of the Game Board. He recalled the Vancouver papers had had it that Hon. Mr. Farris had been closeted with Dr. Baker and other members of the Board at the Vancouver Hotel recently, and he understood two copies of the transcript of the evidence then taken had been made, one of which was handed to Dr. Baker and the other to the Attorney-General. The newspaper people had intimated that the result of that inquiry would be laid before the House, but so far the members had not seen it. The Attorney-General had announced he had nothing to hide and would, when charges made, have them investigated.

Such an investigation, declared the member for Esquimalt, is demanded by the Premier, who has courted an investigation, and Dr. Baker was clamoring in the press for one, therefore, why, when charges have already been made, was that investigation still awaited? Mr. Pooley also understood that complaints had been made to the Premier concerning the head of the Game Board, and that the former had declared "some one has got to go."

UNION OIL COMPANY PREPARES FOR WORK

VANCOUVER, Nov. 14.—Arrangements are practically concluded, it is understood, for the launching of the Union Oil Co. of Canada, a branch of the Union Oil Company of California.

The company is negotiating for the purchase of the plant of the British Columbia Refining Company at Port Moody, and storage plants will be built at New Westminster and Victoria. The initial expenditure of the company may run into $1,500,000.

The oil for the Canadian Pacific Railway locomotives and ships out of this port will be supplied by the Union Company.

WILL PROPOSE CHANGE IN PLAN

Britain Dislikes Idea of Ten-Year Naval Holiday, With Later Replacement—Wants Submarine Outlawed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Great Britain's acceptance "in principle" of the American proposals for the limitation of naval armaments contemplates an alteration of the plan in several important details.

The British acceptance will be presented at tomorrow's plenary session of the conference by Mr. A. J. Balfour, head of the mission. Japan's acceptance "in principle," although forecast by the statements of Baron Admiral Kato, may be delayed, as the Japanese mission must confer with Tokyo.

Mr. Balfour may not outline details of Great Britain's reservations, but they are substantially described this way: Instead of a five-year holiday, Great Britain wants the replacement programme to be an elastic one—spread over a period of years.

Great Britain would like to see the submarine outlawed from naval warfare; failing this, she wants to see their tonnage and equipment distinctly limited. She feels that the submarine programme is too great; she has never had so large a submarine fleet as the proposals would allow.

The United States, Great Britain feels, would have her at a disadvantage in airplane carrying ships, under the American proposals, because while Great Britain has an equipment of these craft the United States would have to build new ships to replace them.

They would be of later design and of superior improvement, while British ships would be obsolete.

Great Britain wants the replacement programme spread over a period of years, because, British naval experts agree, the programme could be carried on with a small equipment of building plant on a small scale, probably a ship at a time. If a flat ten-year holiday were to be declared, they say, facilities for making a wholesale replacement after ten years would have to be kept in organization, and although great fleets of warships might be consigned to the junk pile, facilities for replacing them still would exist.

Such a programme, the British naval experts say, does not go to the root of the question. Therefore, they will propose that, for instance, one ship production equipment be left to each nation, to fit in with a replacement programme extending over a period of years, and that the immense properties, equipment, technical staffs and other organization which would have to be kept in readiness to take up a replacement programme in ten years, be dispensed with.

The deputation had stated its case, the Minister replied that in the first place the report of the evidence given before the Royal Commission on cattle importation was published only this morning, and consequently all parties concerned had not time to consider this evidence. In the second place, legislation would be required to remove the existing embargo, and it had been impossible in the short session which had just terminated, to introduce such legislation, because the session, by common agreement, had been devoted exclusively to questions concerning Ireland and unemployment.

The Minister added that he fully realized the strength of the movement in favor of the removal of the embargo, but pointed out that there was, on the other hand, a very large and extensive movement against such a policy. He undertook to report the views expressed by the deputation, and put the whole case quite impartially before the Cabinet, who would doubtless consider the matter at an early date.

PREMIER OPENS TOUR OF PRAIRIES

Liberal Leader and Candidates Speak to Large Meetings at Edmonton—Overflow Gatherings Necessary

CARMAN, Man., Nov. 14.—Premier Meighen opened his campaign in the Prairie Provinces here this afternoon. The hall in which the Prime Minister spoke was crowded with electors of Macdonald county, where the fight is between A. Argue, the Government candidate, and William J. Leve, Progressive. There is no Liberal in the field.

H. E. Robinson, K.C., was chairman of the meeting. Mr. Argue, the candidate, in a short speech, expressed pride in his leader.

Dr. Jaeger, Halfpenny, of Winnipeg, introduced as a former Liberal, also spoke briefly. Dr. Halfpenny declared that Hon. T. A. Crerar would find it impossible to carry out his tariff pledges without class discrimination, if returned to power. Hard times in Canada were not due to the Meighen Government; the blame for them must be placed on the Kaiser.

Premier's Disclaimer
Premier Meighen was well received when he rose to speak. He opened by remarking that he hoped all the opponents of the Government in the county were present, referring to the discussion of the record of the Government. He said that he thought the principal case against the Government "was the dry weather in the West, the general low prices prevailing throughout the world."

From this he could not defend himself. He claimed that he was as near to the farmer as Mr. Crerar. The leader of the Progressives, largely through a periodical he had in Winnipeg, was inventing things that he claimed the Prime Minister had said, and then denying them, said Mr. Meighen. He had been charged with making the farmers as Bolsheviks and Reds, the Premier retorted.

He found it rather unpleasant to be called an idiot, but that was what this charge amounted to. He had never made such a statement. In fact, he had declared that there was no class of the community which was more opposed to Bolshevism than the farmer, but he had said that the organized farmers' movement brought in its train men of radical, even seditious, character. This statement he adhered to.

Mr. King at Edmonton
EDMONTON, Nov. 14.—Edmonton people gave a cordial greeting to Hon. Mr. Mackenzie King, when the Liberal leader spoke here tonight, the first of his Alberta campaign meetings.

The Metropolitan Theatre was filled to the doors, and hundreds of people gained admittance to the main meeting were addressed at the West Edmonton committee rooms. All the speakers, Mr. King, Col. A. T. Thompson, of Ottawa, Hon. Frank Oliver, Liberal candidate in West Edmonton, and Joseph Clark, East Edmonton, were heard at each meeting. During the afternoon the visiting Liberals were tendered a reception at the War Veterans' memorial hall.

Mr. King will address a meeting tomorrow evening in Calgary.

IRISH POURPARLERS NOW GIVE PROMISE OF LONG DURATION

ROBBERS OPERATE AT PORT COQUITLAM

PORT COQUITLAM, Nov. 14.—Robbers have added their terror to the nerve-racking siege of floods and fires which this little town has suffered during the last few weeks.

Wholesale looting of the shops at Port Coquitlam resulted in Chief McKinley being dragged from his bed Sunday night. Just as he opened fire on two men crossing the railway tracks with their haul, a freight train rolled between him and his quarry. When the cars had rolled away, choice hams and bacon, perfumery, cigars, chocolates and other good things lay scattered in the wake of the vanished thieves.

All the stolen articles were recovered except a fountain pen and the town's erstwhile reputation for lawfulness.

WILL SPEAK FOR WHOLE EMPIRE

Mr. A. J. Balfour Is Agreed Upon by All Representatives as Spokesman—Reference to Dominions' Navies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—When A. J. Balfour, head of the British delegation, addresses the second session of the conference on the limitation of armaments tomorrow morning in reply to the proposal set forth at the opening session by the United States Secretary of State, he will speak for the British Empire.

Since Saturday Mr. Balfour has held several conferences with Sir Robert Borden, Canada's delegate to the conference, as well as with representatives of Australia and New Zealand. It is understood that he outlined to them Great Britain's attitude regarding the United States proposals, and that this was completely in accord with the views of Sir Robert and the other delegates from the Dominions.

Although Mr. Hughes in his statement Saturday referred specially to Great Britain in regard to the suggested cutting down of naval strength, it is declared the limits set were intended to apply to the naval forces of the Empire. It is believed this will be more definitely stated in the draft of the agreement. It pointed out that were Great Britain alone specified in any agreement, which may be reached, Canada's navy would be under the control of the Dominion Government, might be construed as being outside the agreement, and would be at liberty gradually to build up a strong unit, which without doubt, in the event of war, would serve to strengthen Great Britain's position.

It is said that Great Britain's delegates will keep in close consultation with the "Dominions" representatives throughout the discussions of detail which will follow the formal presentation of the viewpoints of the big powers chiefly interested.

LITVINOFF WANTS RUSSIA REPRESENTED

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 14.—The proposal that the United States guarantee all Russia's debts to other countries, and the suggestion that the Washington conference might deal with such a plan if the Russian Soviet Government were permitted to participate in the conference, were made today by Maxim Litvinoff, chief of the Soviet legation abroad, in a statement to the Associated Press.

"If Soviet representatives attended the Washington conference," he said, "America would soon discover that Russia is a country interested in the Pacific Ocean and the Far East to a far higher extent than Italy or Belgium. That this discovery would aid in the proper solution of Far Eastern problems seems clear to every one who has not a prejudiced opinion."

Three Parties at Interest Talk of Conference Continuing Intermittently for Some Months—British Ministers Send Reply to Ulsterites Saying Their Proposal Not Acceptable

ULSTER PROBLEM IS CRUCIAL POINT

Sinn Feiners and Men of North Diametrically Opposed on Unit Question—Mr. Austen Chamberlain States Government's Unwillingness to Coerce Ulster—Pleads for Compromise

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Negotiations among the British, Sinn Fein and Ulster officials regarding the future of Ireland have entered a stage in which the negotiators are talking of intermittent conferences extending over months.

The chief interest this possibility has at the moment is that it promises to make impossible an early visit of Premier Lloyd George to Washington.

This development is assuming importance here because the Washington conference has attained proportions in British eyes of an event of tremendous significance.

Counter-proposals for an Irish settlement to those made by the Ulster cabinet last week were forwarded to the Ulsterites today by British representatives, informing the Ulsterites that their alternative proposal was not acceptable.

It now seems that the Premier's diplomacy must be directed to bringing Ulster into a three-cornered agreement.

In the meantime the Sinn Fein will await developments. Ulster's watchword is "no surrender."

The crux of the difficulty rests in the Sinn Fein's claim that Ireland must be a governmental unit, as opposed to Ulster's claim that if Ireland is to have a dominion status Ulster must be under independent rule.

Mr. Austen Chamberlain, Government leader in the House of Commons, in a letter today set forth his position as follows:

"Like all my Unionist colleagues, I have repeatedly said I would not be a party to the coercion of Ulster. By that pledge we stand. The Prime Minister has given the same pledge.

"Peace is our greatest need, a million and three-quarters of our people are without work; trade is stagnant; confidence is lacking. On the results of the present negotiations depend issues of peace and war in these islands, perhaps the future peace of the world.

"If peace is to be secured, all parties of this ancient and bitter controversy must show some measure of goodwill and be prepared for some concession to the feelings of others."

While Unionist leaders affirm their adherence to the promises not to coerce Ulster, some of Ulster's newspaper supporters see in England, and resent, an atmosphere of what they describe as moral coercion.

The Liverpool conference of the Unionist party on Thursday will be important, because it may show how much support a "no surrender" policy by Ulster may command.

CITY ASKS CAUSE OF EXTRAVAGANCE

Council Condemns Provincial Administration for "Reckless Spending"—May Ask for Federal Inquiry

Blathing criticism of the Provincial Government's "legalized plundering" of municipalities was voiced in the City Council last night, culminating in the passage of resolutions condemning the Government for extravagance, urging abolition of the British Columbia patriotic and educational film, asking for information concerning alleged "reckless expenditure" in automobiles, and providing for the appointment of a special committee to draw up a plan of action in response to the budget proposals of Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance.

When the special committee is appointed, Alderman George Sangster will place before it a proposal that the Federal Government be asked to conduct a sweeping inquiry into the alleged wasteful expenditure of the Oliver Administration.

Alderman Sangster, who a few years ago was one of the pillars of Liberalism in Victoria, attacked Mr. Hart's budget plans in respect to municipal revenue, and asserted that the moneys being withheld by the Government for its own purposes, were rightfully the property of the municipalities.

Alderman A. E. Todd proposed all the resolutions dealt with. They were passed unanimously. It may show how much support a "no surrender" policy by Ulster may command.

In 1914 Provincial expenditure amounted to $6,000,000, recalled Alderman Todd. "This year it is estimated at $12,000,000—more than three times what it was five years ago. These figures are convincing and unalterable testimony to the exorbitant increase in the day the armistice was signed."

SERBS DISLIKE BOUNDARY LINE

Declare Decision of Council of Ambassadors as to Albania Cannot Be Accepted—Army Marches to Front

BELGRADE, Nov. 14.—Jugo-Slavia cannot accept the decision of the Council of ambassadors delimiting the boundary line between Jugo-Slavia and Albania, the cabinet decided at a meeting last night. A note to this effect will be sent to the Allies.

It is stated in official circles here that the Jugo-Slav troops have not advanced beyond the legitimate boundary of Serbia. The Council of ambassadors recently sent a note to the Belgrade government demanding immediate withdrawal of its troops from the territory within the limits previously defined by the Council.

The newspapers are unanimous in declaring the ambassadors' decision unjust, and urge strong opposition to a further meeting on the subject. Thirty thousand troops are believed to be advancing toward the Serbian border.

PROMINENT CHINAMAN SHOT AT CUMBERLAND

CUMBERLAND, B.C., Nov. 14.—Wang O. Rang is in jail on a charge of attempted murder, and Wing Chung, the most prominent Chinaman of Cumberland, is in the hospital suffering from a wound inflicted by a .38-calibre revolver in the hands of the accused.

Rang entered the office of Wing Chung yesterday and asked for a passport to China, and while the ticket was being filled in the accused is said to have pulled out a big German army revolver and fired three shots, one bullet entering the abdomen.

The wounded man is expected to recover. He is secretary of Chinese Free Masons.

The assassin was at once seized and held until taken in charge by the Provincial police. He was charged before Magistrate Baird today with attempted murder, and remanded for eight days. A holster and a bag of cartridges for the revolver were found in the rooms of the accused.

Rumor says there is a thousand dollars reward each for the death of Wing Chung and two others.

GEORGE D. SCOTT DIES OF HEART TROUBLE

VANCOUVER, Nov. 14.—The ranks of the pioneers and the old timers of Vancouver have again been visited by death. George D. Scott, a respected resident of this city since 1888, died suddenly on Sunday morning after a heart attack. Mr. Scott and his wife visited a theatre on Friday night, and there was no preliminary warning of the call which was to come so unexpectedly.

Born in Prince Edward Island 55 years ago, he came to British Columbia and was among those who saw and believed in the great possibilities of this port. For 23 years he was provincial manager of the London and Lancashire Insurance Company, and for some time his jurisdiction extended to the Yukon as well.

JURY INSPECTS BRITANNIA BEACH

Special Attention Is Given to the Railway Fill Which Is Blamed by Some for Causing Fatal Flood

VANCOUVER, Nov. 14.—Conflicting testimony as to whether there was a strong flow of the creek through the culvert of the railway fill at Britannia Beach during the afternoon prior to the disaster on October 13, featured the sessions of the inquest on the victims of the flood held there last Friday evening and Saturday morning. It was learned today.

Falling to obtain a satisfactory insight into the cause of the tragedy from witnesses, the jury decided Thursday to visit Britannia Beach for themselves and obtain a first-hand impression of the place. This they did last Friday, the afternoon being devoted to inspection of the dam and railway fill in the ravine above the little settlement at the beach. Previous testimony had been given in which it was stated that the collapse of the fill was probably the cause of the disaster, and the jury paid particular attention to this point.

Superintendent C. P. Browning explained the construction of the fill to the jury. It had been built according to proper railroad practice, he said, and was not intended to be a dam at all.

The normal flow of the creek went through the cribbing at the bottom of the fill, he explained, and was not impeded in any way. But in times of heavy rain, the creek rose, and formed a considerable body of water behind the fill, the overflow being taken through a culvert near the top of the fill. To avoid the possibility of this culvert becoming jammed with logs which might be brought down by the creek, a guard had been built in front of it. This was done early on the day of the disaster, and at no time during the afternoon was the culvert obstructed in any way, he testified.

C. B. Wilson, blacksmith, swore under oath at four o'clock that afternoon there was a big log, about 2 1/2 feet in diameter, jammed in the culvert, blocking the flow of water to some extent. He also gave the names of three others who had been with him at the time, who had also seen this.

When called, however, these other three men flatly denied having seen such a log jammed in the culvert. Coroner Jeffs warned the witnesses that they were under oath, and should tell the truth.

Alexander Macneil, who held a watching brief for the Crown, and Napier, investigator for the Government, asked numerous questions of the witnesses. D. G. Marshall, K.C., was also present at the inquest as counsel for the company.

So far the jury has called thirty-one witnesses, and in view of the enormous quantity of evidence gathered, a full transcript will be given the jury for reference when the inquest is resumed here next Saturday, November 15.

Jamaica's Tariff
KINGSTON, Jamaica, Nov. 14.—Amendment of the existing tariff law has been proposed by the Government. It is contemplated to place import duties on British goods of 15 per cent of their cost. United States goods are to be taxed 20 per cent of their cost.

WOOL PRICES UP AGAIN

But Semi-Ready Prices Fixed by Price in the Pocket

"There can be no corresponding advance in Semi-ready wools this season, despite the increase of 15 per cent in the cost of wool yarns," said the President of the Wool Growers' Association.

"Semi-ready prices are fixed at the beginning of each season. The price in the pocket, and the plain price on the custom tailoring samples, cannot be altered."

"The Special Order Tailoring Department has behind it the choice of 150 patterns and a million dollar stock of fine wools. There is not a cheap or cottony yard in the selection offered."

"Exactly the same price in Victoria as you can buy at the door of the Semi-ready shops in Montreal," asserted Mearns & Fuller, who have the sole selling rights for Semi-ready physique type tailoring in this city. (Adv.)

PROVINCES MAY GET REGULATION POWERS

TORONTO, Nov. 14.—The provinces of Canada may be empowered to institute machinery for the regulation of prices, in consequence of the Privy Council's decision that the Board of Commerce Act is ultra vires of the Dominion parliament.

"It would appear to point that way," said Hon. W. E. Roney, Attorney-General, when asked if a clause in the Privy Council's decision stating that provincial legislatures possess quasi-sovereign authority in regard to regulation of prices of food and other necessities would tend toward recognition of the right of provinces to control the prices of food and other necessities.

"If it is clear that the provincial legislatures have powers in this regard which were previously vested by the Dominion Government in the Board of Commerce, we shall have to consider what steps shall be taken," Mr. Roney added, declining to commit himself definitely at the present time.

LEAGUE REQUIRES MORE STRENGTH

Premier Smuts of South Africa and Ex-Premier Nitti of Italy Say Germany and Russia Must Join

LONDON, Nov. 14.—A Reuter cable from Pretoria, South Africa, says a strong plea for support of the League of Nations was voiced by the Premier, General Smuts, in an address delivered in Pretoria.

In support of the argument that the League could never be a success while huge tracts of the world are excluded, he advanced the view that Russia and Germany should be made to join the League if they failed to do so voluntarily.

He also considered that the main purpose of the League should be to regulate relations between nations—the weak spot of the present system.

In a book entitled "Europe Without Peace," which is shortly emerging from the publishers, P. Nitti, the Italian ex-Premier, makes a vigorous contribution to the widespread controversy on the subject of the Allied post-war policy with relation to present European conditions.

The former Premier describes the Treaty of Versailles as profoundly unjust, and the conviction is growing that its enforcement is impossible.

The crisis now overwhelming Europe, he says, has alarmed even those whose minds were most excited with the war spirit.

M. Nitti's remedies are brief, but thoroughgoing. For example, he says, it is essential immediately to admit all nations, including Germany, to the League of Nations. The reparations commission, which he calls "that absurd union of conquerors," must be suppressed. The reason for France's disquieted state of mind are admitted to have real foundation, on Germany and Italy should assure France against aggression for at least 20 years, but all troops, according to Nitti, must be withdrawn from the Rhine, and Upper Silesia must unconditionally be returned to Germany. All inter-Allied war debts must be cancelled. Germany's indemnity must be reduced to sixty billion gold marks by the assumption of 20 per cent of the Allied debt.

"Only through Berlin," is Nitti's parting shot, "can Moscow be reached and Russia's raw material be made again available."

RIGHTS GUARANTEED TO FARM LABORERS

LONDON, Nov. 14.—A Reuter dispatch from Geneva says the International Labor Conference on Saturday adopted a convention guaranteeing to farm workers the same rights of association and combination as the industrial workers enjoy.

The Australian and South African delegates, Sir Thomas Oliver and E. Barrett, respectively, and the Australian, Canadian and Japanese employers' delegates, Messrs. Cookson, R. F. Parsons and Kozaki Tamura, respectively, opposed the convention.

The conference adopted a convention giving farm workers the benefit of the laws providing compensation for accidents, and also adopted a recommendation urging governments to extend to farm workers sickness and old age insurance.

ARMAMENT SHARPS WEAKEN

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Armament makers on the stock exchange in today's trading showed effects attributed to the proposals of Secretary of State Hughes at the armaments conference in Washington. The whole list of such shares was marked down in anticipation of selling, which, however, had not appeared in any force up to the noon hour.

HE FEELS LIKE NEW MAN, SAYS JONESON

Vancouver Lumberman Says It's Great to Feel as Good as He Does Now

"I'm feeling like a new man now and I certainly am a believer in Tanlac," said O. B. Joneson, a well-known lumberman, of 7 Cordova Street, Vancouver, B.C.

"Before Tanlac fixed me up I used actually to dread for mealtime to come round, as my stomach was so upset that often the sight of food nauseated me. I was never without a mean, sickening taste in my mouth, and my stomach seemed as sour as a vinegar barrel. I had awful headaches every day, and I never knew what it was to get a good sound night's sleep."

"Tanlac had me feeling like a new man in a short time. It completely knocked out every one of my troubles, and today I'm as sound as a dollar. It's great to feel like I do now."

Tanlac is sold in Victoria by Owl Brand and by leading druggists everywhere. (Adv.)

SIR H. DRAYTON MEETS OBSTACLE

Withdraws From Carleton County Because of Opposition—Conservative Split in West York Unhealed

OTTAWA, Nov. 14.—Following opposition to his candidature, Sir Henry Drayton, Minister of Finance, withdrew from the Carleton County Government convention at Stittsville on Saturday afternoon. William F. Garland, Ottawa druggist, and a former member of the House of Commons, was chosen as the Government standard-bearer.

Six aspirants for the nomination were before the convention, including George Boyce, former sitting member, and Rev. Robert H. Steacy, who both withdrew. Sir Henry Drayton's withdrawal followed a refusal on the part of two of the nominees, R. O. Morris and Clark Craig, to retire, and a somewhat spirited attack on the principle of choosing an outsider, delivered by Rev. Mr. Steacy.

TORONTO, Nov. 14.—The refusal of Len Wallace to agree to any settlement of the West York split, which left it possible for A. J. Anderson to secure approval as a Conservative candidate in the present election, brought a split in the Conservative ranks to the final attempt to establish harmony in the riding. After a conference of their supporters had broken up, both candidates declared their intention of going vigorously ahead with the campaign.

QUEBEC, Nov. 14.—Hon. L. G. Bély, Conservative candidate in Charlevoix-Montmorency, in speaking at Murray Bay yesterday, in answer to a heckler who wanted to know if the Minister would ask for the repeal of the Military Service Act if returned to parliament, quoted Premier Taschereau to show that the law no longer had any effect, since the war was over. This heckler was president, and wanted to know if the Minister would ask for the repeal of the Laurier Act as contained in the revised statutes of 1906. Mr. Bély answered that this was the Militia and Defence Act, and was necessary for the protection of individuals and property. He said that all civilized countries had such a measure. It was only disorganized countries such as Russia that had no such law. He added that it would be just as logical to ask for the abolition of the criminal code.

EXPRESSES FEAR FOR RAND MINES

Sir E. Wallers Says Change in Underground Organization Is Necessary—Proposal as to Native Labor

LONDON, Nov. 14.—A Reuter cable from Johannesburg, South Africa, says the grave position of the mining industry from the mine owners' point of view was dwelt on by Sir Evelyn Wallers, former president of the Transvaal Chamber of Mines, at a conference between the Prime Minister of the South African Union, representatives of the Chamber of Mines and the trades unions.

He urged that a rearrangement of the underground organization was essential if the industry were to be established on a safe basis, but he recognized that this would bring the industry into conflict with the trade union restrictions, particularly on the color question. He declared that unless these difficulties were frankly faced, it would be impossible to achieve salvation as regards permanent employment for the greatest number of white men.

Sir Evelyn expressed the willingness of the Chamber of Mines to consider fixing a ratio for the natives and the whites for a period of years, in order to meet the union's groundless apprehension that an unlimited reduction of the number of white workers in mines is proposed.

JEWS ARE SHOT DOWN CROSSING FRONTIER

KISHINEV, Roumania, Nov. 14.—Hundreds of Jewish families have been shot down while attempting to cross the Roumanian frontier to escape an expected clash between the forces of General Petliura and those of the Soviet Government, according to unconfirmed reports received here.

The Roumanian Government is said to have issued orders instructing its border guards to admit no refugees and suspending the intended expulsion of thousands of Ukrainian Jewish refugees.

EXPERTS STUDY EFFECT OF PLAN

Prospective Naval Strength of Three Powers at End of Ten-
Year Holiday as Proposed by United States

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Technical advisers of the various delegations are studying the United States proposal under which tonnage figures in capital ships for the three powers for immediate reduction would be: Great Britain, 504,450; United States, 500,550; Japan, 299,700.

The list of ships to be retained by each shows that the British preponderance over the United States is practically all in her four battle cruisers.

So far as battleship tonnage goes in the retained fleets, the British and United States force would be about the same, around 100,000, and that of Japan just under 300,000. This links up directly with Mr. Hughes' suggestion as to a replacement programme based on tonnage for each power, to apply only after ten years of no building of any kind. Then, under the proposal, Great Britain would be allowed to maintain up to 500,000 tons in capital ships, the United States the same and Japan 300,000.

In other words, after ten years, the British fleet must be brought down to the same tonnage basis as that of the United States, while the Japanese would remain substantially where it was at the time of the first reduction.

Apparently, it is expected that the British strength would be reduced sufficiently by attrition, the wearing out of ships during the ten-year period.

Gun Power
Statistics of the gun power of the three fleets to be retained under the reduction programme show that the United States and Japan would have one ship each, mounting eight-inch rifles.

Great Britain would have ten ships carrying a total of eighty 15-inch rifles; one carrying ten 14-inch guns, and her other seven ships would be armed with the British 13.5 guns, used by neither of the other powers. She would have seventy of these afloat. The United States, in addition to the 16-inch gun ship, the Maryland, just commissioned, would have eight ships carrying twelve 14-inch guns each; four carrying ten 14-inch guns each, and four carrying twelve 12-inch guns each. Japan, in addition to her one 16-inch gun ship, would have afloat forty-eight 14-inch guns and twelve 12-inch on her battleships and thirty-two 14-inch on her battle cruisers.

Relative Strength
In round terms, the replacement proposal means that under the agreement outlined, the fleets of the three powers in terms of capital ships would stand ultimately at approximately fourteen each for Great Britain and the United States, and eight for Japan.

The United States makes claim to full equality with Great Britain in the replacement, and there the Admiralty hint as yet that the British delegation will oppose it.

It means also that Japan would stand thereafter at a fixed ratio of three to five in naval strength in comparison to the other two fleets. It was not clear tonight how that would finally be received by Japan.

Size Limitation
The United States replacement plan proposes to limit future capital ships to 35,000 tons. Taken in connection with the tonnage allotment, that would mean main fleets of 14 capital craft each for Great Britain and the United States and eight for Japan, provided all are built up to the limit of size.

The heaviest tonnage of capital craft so far planned is understood to be in connection with Japan's proposed battle-cruiser ships, to reach 44,000. Such ships, and also such vessels as the six new battleships and battle-cruisers the United States is building, all well over 40,000 tons, would be prohibited.

Limitations in size strike at vital elements in naval construction. The fleet of guns and armor, weight, speed and cruising radius are those from which the size of ships are determined. Probably the 35,000-ton limitation would make impossible any ship carrying heavier batteries than eight 16-inch weapons.

It is to be noted that in the scheme no data as to new ships laid down, or replacements would be required to be furnished by the power planning the ship to the other two, but the tonnage and the dates of contract, building, completion and destruction of the ship displaced. No attempt is made to limit the design of the vessel, batteries, speed, fuel capacity, or other military characteristics, beyond the 35,000-ton maximum figure.

Auxiliary Craft
In outlining the plans for all the auxiliary craft that make up modern fleets, care was taken to exclude from the limitations existing tonnage, in monitors or purely coast defence vessels, and in supply and other train ships, tugs and the like. These would be no necessity to dispose of any excess of those craft any power might have, as they would not weigh much in the scale of the reduced main fleets. Otherwise, with the exception of aircraft, the five to three ratio as between the strength of the British and United States fleets and that of Japan would apply all down the line. It is an exact establishment of this line of relative naval strength that has been worked out.

Question of Bases
The figure may be significant. Naval officers always have contended that it would require a two-to-one preponderance of forces to carry battle lines across the Pacific, if the attacking power lacked bases well out toward that side, because of the possibility of accidents to ships which would put them out of commission as total losses, although a nearby base might quickly have refitted them for the front line. Here is where the great importance of naval bases in the Pacific, not touched upon by Mr. Hughes, lies.

On the five to three ratio of naval strength, officers say that preponderance would not be available to Great Britain or the United States. It would take joint forces to furnish the ships, and then, because of different training and divided commands, exerts think a three-to-one preponderance necessary to make certain the result.

Merchant Marine

Another element of the programme yet to be explained is the statement of the inverse ratio importance of the merchant marine, compared to the naval strength maintained by many powers. That means that as the size of the naval force goes down, the possibilities of turning merchant vessels into warships mounting guns on their decks, go up. With few fighting ships to meet, armed merchantmen would be the most useful fighting craft ready for battle with ships of their kind. If all navies were scrapped, Great Britain would have an overwhelming preponderance in potential naval strength, due to her 26,000,000 tons of cargo and passenger steamers as against the merchant fleets of the United States and Japan.

Apparently the United States delegation was influenced by some such consideration as this in reaching the figures as to size of navies to be maintained on a non-competitive basis which it proposed.

BRITISH OPINION IS FAVORABLE

Papers Generally Approve U. S.
Navy Reduction Plan, but
Point Out That Details May Need Change

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Overwhelming surprise and a disposition to reserve judgment seems the keynote of the comment in the London morning papers on the proposals of the United States Secretary of State at the Washington conference. "It may be found," says The Daily Telegraph, "that the scheme is overbold, but it holds up such a magnificent ideal that it will awaken great enthusiasm among those who long for the world to get its feet set on the true path of peace." The Telegraph thinks that no period judgment is possible on such tremendous proposals, but believes that all nations concerned, including Japan, will appreciate the courage which dictated them.

The Daily News says that a despairing world has been shown the way to salvation. "The path that was missed at Versailles," it adds, "is revealed once again at Washington, broad and straight. Secretary Hughes' challenge is direct and cannot be avoided. It is for the peoples to see that it is not avoided. Britain, at any rate, must meet it fair and square."

The Times treats the proposal with sympathetic admiration, but emphasizes that it will have to be carefully considered. "By the very boldness with which it has thrown aside the traditions of old-fashioned diplomacy," it says, "it immediately captured the imagination of the people of the United States. We believe that in many respects it will appeal less forcibly to the peoples of Europe."

The Westminster Gazette declares the proposal is magnificent, and says that it will certainly receive with no less enthusiasm all over the world than it was received in the conference. The paper believes that the proposals would leave Great Britain in a very good position, and imagines that the Admiralty will accede readily enough. "So far as Great Britain is concerned," it says, "there is no reason why the scheme should not be accepted with qualifications."

The American plan for a ten-year naval holiday and the scrapping of all but a limited number of warships calls for much less sacrifice on the part of Great Britain than by the United States and Japan, is the view of the naval correspondent of The Daily Mail.

The proposed scheme, he says, "would be a heavy one for Japan and the United States, but comparatively trifling for Great Britain, as the latter has not incurred any great outlay on the four new ships just ordered. The American scheme involves no injury to Britain's interests, for in plain fact the British navy today is third in post-war ships and second in submarines, which are the two factors which probably will count for the most in future naval warfare. The real test to accept conditions which place her in a position of permanent inferiority."

Other correspondents point out that Great Britain has already taken the lead in the reduction of naval armaments, her progressive scrapping of warships since the armistice having amounted up to last April to more than five hundred vessels, of which three hundred were destroyers. Figures are printed to show that neither Japan nor the United States has gone very far in this direction.

Most of the naval writers are taking time to digest and consider the proposals, and thus far little expert opinion, as distinct from editorial views, has been published here.

All other news is subordinated to the Washington dispatches in this morning's newspapers, which display accounts of Saturday's developments.

ARMAMENT REDUCTIONS

One feature affecting any reduction of national armaments which will require careful examination is found in the possibility that one of the nations involved in such a policy may be threatened by a country which remains outside the scope of its operation. If it is agreed that all the nations which might decide to stand together in reducing armaments would also stand together when the interests of any one of them were in jeopardy, then a convention through a concert of Powers to secure peace would exercise a very real influence. Such a convention could only be bound together by a treaty of defence, a policy to which the United States is opposed. At the present moment Britain has a very tangible assurance of assistance against Russia, if that country contemplated offensive designs in India, by the existence of the Anglo-Japanese Treaty. Should it be decided that this would be denounced in the event of an agreement to reduce armaments, Britain might have in its place a weapon that in a crisis would be of no military value.

The consideration of this phase of disarmament does not preclude the possibility that an arrangement can be reached between the principal naval Powers; but it does indicate the advisability of proceeding with the utmost caution, for the future must be considered with all its potentialities. France has so far declared herself. Her position and history on the continent of Europe is such that the likelihood is the question of land armaments will not be raised at the Washington Conference. France has to think in terms of military strength on land, and Britain must consider the question of any reduced armaments from the standpoint of naval power. At first blush the proposals put forward by the United States appear generous. They are generous, so far as they affect America, but their application to other nations, and especially to the British Empire with its geographical structure, calls for grave consideration. The Washington Conference is a gathering of selected nations, admittedly embracing the most powerful in the world today, but in whatever it does it must take into account the military potentialities of such countries as Russia and Germany, both of whom, since they have not been invited to participate, will look askance at any new concert of the Powers. In principle almost everyone agrees with a policy of reducing armaments, but in practice that policy should have the enthusiastic sanction of every nation in the world.

PROVINCIAL ESTIMATES

The Provincial Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure show that no provision is made in the fiscal year of 1922-1923 for statutory increases in the salaries of Civil Servants. The decision not to provide such increases appears to have become a settled policy. There are, however, a few special increases provided for in the Estimates, and the most important of these is the raising of the salary of the Superintendent of Education from $4,000 to $4,500 per annum. He is the only one of the educational employees of the Provincial Government who is to benefit by a salary increase during the coming fiscal year. According to the Estimates the amount expended on what is described as agricultural education is to increase from $22,250 to $23,450 and on industrial education from $58,370 to $101,370.

Of the expenditures as outlined in the Estimates the main increases are shown in the outlays in the Departments of the Attorney-General and of Education, and, of course, in the charges affecting the Public Debt which for 1922-1923 are to be $4,033,233.08, as compared with $3,829,621.08 for the current fiscal year. The estimate of expenditure for the Department of Public Works indicates but a small increase, and the amount to be spent on what comes under the subhead of "roads, streets, bridges and wharves" is about $60,000 more than provided for this fiscal year. It would appear from this that there is no intention of spending the money accruing through the increased motor licence fees on road work, nor is it yet indicated if it is proposed to do anything next Summer in connection with the links of a trans-provincial highway. In the matter of public works affecting the Province's resources there is to be a reduction in expenditures. The vote for the Bureau of Information has been reduced from $24,372 to $22,300, and no provision is made for the coming fiscal year for the grant of $13,000 to the Pacific Northwest Tourist Association, a grant which has been made annually for some years past.

Capital expenditures show an increase of from $2,958,765.46 to $3,375,165.56, but this is almost altogether accounted for by annual instalments on the many loans which have been made in recent years. The grant to the University of British Columbia is $448,000, or the same as it now is, and there is no provision made in the capital expenditure account for the new buildings for that institution. Expenditures planned are estimated to increase from $19,966,024.29, at which they stand for this fiscal year, to $21,312,462.82 during 1922-1923. The total estimated revenue for 1922-1923 is $19,045,815, as compared with $17,019,595.13 for the current fiscal year. In the Estimates provision is made for the increased indemnities to members of the Legislature and for increases in salaries of Cabinet Ministers which were decided upon last session.

RACING TAXES

The proposal that there should be a five per cent tax imposed on all bets made through the pari-mutuel system in this Province is estimated to bring in a revenue to the Province from the race meets held in Victoria and Vancouver of $250,000 per annum. This estimate is a conservative one if the practice is literally following of collecting $5 on every $100 which is bet. The Minister of Finance says it has been estimated that the total amount passing through the machines during the four race meets held in Vancouver and Victoria this year was not less than $7,500,000. The figure is in a sense true, but when it is analyzed it conveys a fantastic impression and one upon which a system of taxation should not be devised. The figure of $7,500,000 may represent a sum of less than $1,000,000 in actual cash which is being bet over and over again, and it would be this sum, less the amount taken daily as a percentage under the pari-mutuel system, which would be taxed. If, therefore, the estimate of the taxation receipts is $250,000, this would represent a tax of over 25 per cent, and perhaps from 30 to 35 per cent, on moneys which the people risk at a race meet during a single day.

A capital of $100 could be taxed seven times at the rate of five per cent each time during a single day, as there are usually seven races during an afternoon. Without considering the percentage taken off under the pari-mutuel system this capital of $100, through Government taxation alone, would divide to a sum of approximately $70 during a single day. This is a calculation that can be made by any schoolboy. A system which would collect taxation of this character would inevitably defeat its own ends, for its ultimate effect must be to kill horse racing in the Province. It is incredible to believe that the Government has in view such a proposal, although the language of the Budget Speech is plain enough when it speaks of "imposing a tax of five per cent upon all bets made through the pari-mutuel system." This constitutes more than taxation, for it amounts to confiscation of winnings. The example of New Zealand has been quoted in this regard, but we are very certain that what is done in that Commonwealth is not similar in its incidence to what is proposed in this Province. The subject deserves more careful examination than has been given to it, and those in control of racing in this Province should make representations to the Government.

AN APPEAL

The Victorian Order of Nurses is a body which, during a period of eleven years' work in this community, has clearly proved its title to public support. It is a ministerial organization which has done excellent service in staying the ravages of sickness. Its energies are supplemental to those of the hospital, for through its agency hospitals are prevented from being overcrowded. It does something more that cannot be too keenly appreciated in domestic life, for the work of nurses of this order prevents families from becoming scattered through sickness. Wherever possible the patients who are looked after, or in cases where advice is sought, pay the fees, which are turned into a general fund for the benefit of these nurses, but attention is never refused where there is poverty and difficulty in making payments.

An organization of this character has to rely to some extent on public support and that is the reason a campaign to collect funds is being carried on during the present week. The appeal for assistance is an appeal in the interests of humanitarianism and one of peculiarly local application. The people of this neighborhood have always been generous in their recognition of all efforts to give genuine and expert relief in cases of sickness, and where an organization, created specifically for the benefit of community health, is concerned, we do not believe there is any cause for fear failure. It should be an act of gratitude and mercy to give to this nurses' body the money it seeks to carry on its mission efficiently.

"Big Tim" Murphy's sentence
CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—"Big Tim" Murphy, former State representative, gang leader and president of the Gas Workers and Street Sweepers Union, was sentenced to six years in Leavenworth and fined $35,000 by Judge Keneaw M. Landis today for his part in planning the $360,000 Dearborn Station mail robbery here last April.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

We invite the editor to be inserted in this column, and we will be glad to accept of the writer. This is a privilege of the Colonist.

Municipal Taxation

Sir,—In your issue of Saturday last you publish Mr. Hart's budget speech, including the part in which he refers to municipal relief. After producing facts and figures which justify his contention that the city's extravagant expenditure, and after acknowledging that the city needs relief, he fills nearly a column with "advice to citizens," and while doing so, follows Mr. Oliver's lead by advising a 50 per cent tax on improvements, by omitting any acknowledgment that the tax on land on which the improvements stand must be reduced in exact proportion, he follows his chief in representing this tax as one that has been neglected and which can be easily improved without reference to any other tax.

The Colonist in today's issue is inclined to favor this tax, with the tax on land very greatly reduced, a very different proposition and the only practical one. The one thing necessary at the present time is not to increase the burden of those who are keeping the city afloat by paying the taxes. At their taxes, Mr. Hart represented Victoria and other cities to be in a parlous state, but while interposing the advice he was overwhelmed by a wave of optimism, and made the startling discovery that the municipalities hardly needed any relief at all. Were we fortunate to get the advice, or was it unfortunate that the delay enabled the said wave to reach the Finance Minister just as he was going to advise his Government as to how much relief the municipalities really needed. From time to time The Colonist has already covered the ground as to how urgently the municipalities need relief, the expense of which will fall on those who are already paying very burdensome taxes.

F. M. READE,
9 Mt. Edwards, Vancouver Street,
Victoria, B.C., November 14, 1921.

The Industrial Committee

Sir,—I was somewhat amused at the article which appeared in Sunday's issue describing the "sprinkled attack" by Alderman Harvey, and that he was appalled by my actions, and that Alderman Dinwiddie "could hardly express himself." I am afraid it does not take much to appall either of these gentlemen.

Let us get down to facts and figures. The Industrial Committee, headed by Alderman Harvey, to justify its existence, having been unsuccessful in landing the woolen mill company, which company only wanted free water, exemption from all taxation for fifteen years, free sites and a guarantee of 7 per cent on its capital, got hold of a manufacturer of "pop," and after lengthy negotiations, offer him a lease for twenty years of a city property at $20 per month, which cost the ratepayers $7,000.

Now, I ask the ratepayers, do you think this good business? We have already at least three firms in Victoria manufacturing soft drinks; all these firms are paying heavy taxes and a high license fee. Is it common sense to induce an utter stranger to come here and manufacture "pop" in competition with established firms at present having a hard time to pay their taxes and licenses? Besides this, we have granted this stranger a twenty-year lease without a stroke of the pen having been made in way in voting for a reduction of this twenty-year lease to ten years I was supported by three other aldermen and I have no apologies to make for my action.

In conclusion, I can only say that it is abuse and attacks of this kind, made on the eve of an election in the hope of boosting one's stock and injuring their political opponents in the eyes of the electorate who do not know the ins and outs of the transactions, that keep representatives running from offering themselves for civic honors.

I am perfectly willing to leave the matter in the hands of an intelligent electorate, who are not so easily led away by such a palpable pre-election fake.

E. B. ANDROS,

Police Commissioner

Sir,—Would it be too much to ask you to get together a strong delegation to interview Mr. Chas. E. Redfern to run as police commissioner in opposition to Dr. Ernest Hall?

We all know Dr. Ernest Hall as a great deal of the extreme kind, and we know Mr. Redfern as a sane business administrator who has done much for our fair city whilst he was mayor, etc.

108 Kingston Street, Victoria, B.C.,

Rose Beds

Sir,—Your description of how to make a rose bed and its setting in Sunday's Colonist is rather misleading. The rose bed is the most difficult bed in the garden to treat, owing to its bare and ungracious appearance. If it is light soil it should be dug out to a depth of two feet, then filled in four or six inches of clay and the same amount of cow manure, then fill up with soil. Roses need a clay subsoil with plenty of cow manure, as they are great feeders. If one could realize how much substance it requires to build one flower, then how much more would be necessary for one bush, therefore there must be a source for the plant to draw from. A plain simple border of vines adds charm and dignity to the rose.

BIRTH OF TELEPHONE

How many people know what were the first words spoken over the telephone? No, they were not "hello" or "central" for there was no central then. It is recorded that at Brantford, Ontario, Dr. Alexander Graham Bell "rang up" Watson his mechanic and said—"Watson I want you," but the first authentic conversation, brief as it was, took place between Dr. Bell and the president of the British Association. "To be or not to be" asked the great inventor. The president of the association was listening intently, and when he heard Dr. Bell's voice, he shouted aloud excitedly, "To be," for he realized that there had been given to humanity the greatest invention of the age. The great hall in which the members of the association had assembled reverberated with the cheers which greeted the words of their president. The scientific world was taken by storm.

To put the first telephone ever used to the test, the inventor, Dr. Bell, was connected with an instrument which was placed in full view of the members of the British Association, while the other end of the line was attached to an instrument which had been fitted up in a remote part of the building. The supreme moment of Dr. Bell's life had arrived. In a field had experimented successfully with a crudely constructed instrument, fashioned by his own design, and full of holes, and he had been told that the machine gave their seal of approval that he would find instant help to a fortune. The untimely death which greeted Dr. Bell's demonstration was as much in his ears, for it was the crowning acknowledgement of years of patient effort.

Dr. Bell Interviewed

It was in Edinburgh, a few years ago, writes a correspondent in The Montreal Star, that I had the good fortune to meet the distinguished Scotch-Canadian, being privileged to spend the better part of two days in his company. A man of wonderful attainments, he is a brilliant conversationalist, considerate to a degree for the comfort and well-being of his friends, and like all Scotchmen, fond of a really good joke. There is no "side" about Dr. Graham Bell, modest as all really great men are, and his service to the world is so abundant that he regards as absurd the notion of his being a fortune teller. He has no use for the man who is forever telling him what he was to do, who, as often as not, is found wanting when put to the test.

"What were the circumstances attending the birth of the idea which led to your discovery?" I asked Dr. Bell as we sat in front of a blazing fire in the Waverly Hotel.

"It was in the early part of 1874," he said, "that I had the good fortune to consult Dr. Clarence J. Blake with reference to the mechanism of the human ear. I told him I wanted a photograph (an instrument for recording the vibration of sound) modelled after the ear, and he quite startled me with the suggestion—'Why not take an ear from a dead man, and get tracings from the little bones of the ear.' Well that struck my fancy. I said—'where will I get the human ear?' Dr. Blake was equal to the occasion, and in a short time I had an ear prepared very nicely. It so happened that it was about Summer vacation time, and so I carried this ear up with me to my father's house in Brantford, Ontario, and there I commenced my experiments. I moistened the ear with glycerine to make it flexible, and attached to it a small piece of hair, and when I spoke into the dead man's ear, I saw this hair vibrate, then I got a piece of smoked glass and put it under the vibrations, and commenced to study the vibrations characteristic of the different elements of speech. While I was experimenting with this human ear, it struck me that the bones were very massive indeed compared with the delicate, thin membrane that operated them, and the thought occurred, if a membrane so delicate could move bones relatively so massive, why should not a thick membrane move a piece of steel? At that moment the telephone was "conceived."

When I met Dr. Bell in "Auld Reekie," where he had conferred upon him the honorary degree of D.Sc., he was joining his attention upon an invention which he calculated would be of great practical benefit to the deaf and dumb. "If only I could make deaf hear," he told me, "I am quite certain I could make them speak." He was spurred on in his efforts to invent an instrument which would enable the deaf to hear an ordinary conversation by the fact that his wife was afflicted by the dual disability. She was a ready student of the lip language which her gifted husband had devised, and by simply watching his lips she could enter into conversation with him without difficulty. During the war, shellshock patients, who had lost their power of speech, were taught to read the lips, but after careful observation, physicians insisted upon their making no effort to reply, confident that their speech would return to them suddenly, for which reason strangely enough they were encouraged to attend football matches, the prevailing excitement frequently producing the desired effect.

WESTERN CAPITALISTS
FORM STEEL MERGER

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—Announcement was made here today of the closing of a deal between Utah and California capitalists which contemplates a $25,000,000 iron, coal and steel merger, the primary aim of which, it is said, will be to make the entire West industrially independent of Eastern steel and iron.

The details, as given out by L. F.

Malin, president of the Carbon Fuel Company of Salt Lake City, here now in connection with the merger, call for the single industrial management of the coal, coke and iron industries and deposits of the Utah mineral region, and the providing of raw materials from that section for finished steel products.

At the head of the merger is Wilmington E. Creed, president of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, and president of the Columbia Steel Company of Pittsburgh, California. The value of the properties drawn into the merger, approximately $10,000,000. The remaining $15,000,000 represents capital investment to be spent in development work in iron, coke and coal deposits in Utah and in other amalgamation development work.

This particular specimen of old lace is of rare beauty and charming design, and connoisseurs declare it to be one of the most valuable and unique bits of needlework on the continent.

King, and it was decided not to arrange any further chapter entertainments until after New Year. The next meeting will take place at the home of the first vice-regent, Miss Helen Macdonald.

Fowkes and E. Corrance. They have arranged an excellent programme which will be staged immediately after the business meeting.

Loyal Order of Moose—The Moose Order will hold its regular fortnightly dance at the Commodore Hall tomorrow. The funds obtained from these dances are used to defray expenses of social functions held during the winter season, and it is hoped that all members and friends will give the dance committee their strong support. Speaks to Parents—Bright and Dark Spots in the Motherland was the subject of an address delivered by Rev. A. tonight on "Radium," explaining how it is obtained and how it is utilized. The club supper will commence as usual at 8:15, and the address will follow. The meeting will be open to all.

To Speak on Tariffs—Mr. A. C. Noakes, authority on tariff matters, will address two meetings in Victoria this week under the auspices of the National Liberal and Conservative Association. He will speak at 8 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at Pantages Theatre, and also at 8 o'clock the same evening in the same place. A general invitation has been extended to the women of Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt, as well as of Victoria, to attend.

Mr. Justice Gregory Here—Mr. Justice Gregory, who has been presiding in the Vancouver Assize Court for some weeks, heard applications in Chambers here yesterday, and will continue to do for the rest of this week. In making arrangements for adjourned hearings, Mr. Justice Gregory remarked that he had been relieved of some duty this week by Mr. Justice Morrison; but that as at present arranged he would return to the Assize Court next week.

Federated Labor Meeting—Major R. J. Burde, M.P.P., will address the electors at the Federated Labor meeting tonight, in Trades Hall, Mr. Ham Guthrie, and Mr. W. E. Peirce, the candidate, will also speak. Arrangements have been completed to hold meetings every Tuesday and Friday evening until election day, in the same hall. An exchange of platform speakers from Vancouver enables the Labor party in this city to have all the angles in Federal issues explained to the electors.

In County Court—Trial of the suit of Sundar Singh vs. McCrea was concluded before His Honor Judge Lampman yesterday. The plaintiff's claim was for alleged wages owing, money advanced and value of milk supplied; while the defendant counter-claimed and allowed no costs to either party to the suit. Mr. D. R. Tait appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. W. C. Moray for the defendant.

Silver Tea and Card Party—Arrangements are now complete for the silver tea and card party to be held Speaks to Gyro Club—A story of the British secret service in the Far East formed the subject of an address given by Lieut.-Col. Flick last evening before the Gyro Club in the Criterion Cabaret. In place of the regular monthly meeting, the club had a supper, Col. Flick being the speaker of the occasion. A vocal solo was rendered by Gyro Trevitt. An ice hockey game between two Gyro teams was announced for Wednesday between six and seven o'clock in the evening.

"Photographic Joints"—An illustrated lecture by Mr. A. Hallam on "Photographic Joints in the Home-land" was delivered before the Victoria Photographic Society last evening at the regular monthly meeting in the Y.M.C.A. Most of the views were taken by Mr. Hallam himself. Mr. J. Grant was appointed on the executive and exhibition committee in place of Mr. H. U. Knight, who has resigned. The subject for the next monthly meeting is a demonstration of the strongly protesting committee of the city should unite for one big dinner on Empire Day.

Against Land Taxes—The City Council last night passed a resolution strongly protesting against a proposal to levy Federal taxation upon land, as hinted at in recent dispatches from Ottawa. The resolution stated that "in the event of the levying of any additional taxes upon land, by any authority, is an economic impossibility, and would simply result in disaster and annually increasing areas of land being abandoned by their owners, a situation which is probably duplicated in numerous other cities and municipalities in Western Canada."

Cemetery Proposals—The City Council decided last night to take no further steps in negotiations for a cemetery until it knows the nature of the by-law to be submitted to the ratepayers of Saanich. The Council still has hopes of entering into partnership with Saanich in an inter-municipal cemetery enterprise and is reluctant to proceed along independent lines because of the foreseen difficulty of passing a money by-law in the city. If the joint ownership plan is possible, no city by-law need be prepared, as the trustees appointed under recent legislation would be empowered to purchase a site.

Esquimalt Methodist Church—On Friday evening next the meeting of the Young People's Society of the Esquimalt Methodist Church will be held at the home of Mrs. Millar, Comerford Street, when Mr. Scoble will be in charge. All old members are invited to attend the meeting and new ones will be welcomed. On Sunday evening a special commemorative service was conducted in the church, when solos were sung by Miss Mutch, Miss Wallace and Mrs. Parsons. The service was a decided success. Next Saturday at 9 a.m. the Ladies' Aid Society will conduct a sale of home cooking at the Beaumont Grocery Store.

Industry Plans Fizzle—The plans of the Industrial Committee of the City Council for the establishment of a soft drink factory here by Vernon Inc. collapsed last night when Ald. John Harvey, chairman, announced that Mr. T. J. Fenner, the promoter, had withdrawn from the negotiations because of the opinion of certain factions of the public and disagreement among the aldermen. Ald. E. B. Andros admitted that there has been disagreement, and said he had been the victim of an "unwarranted attack" by the "industrialists" in the Council. Ald. Harvey also informed the Council that his committee had been unable to report on the Shell Oil project.

Holding Dance Tomorrow—The members of the Robert Burns McKicking Club, I.O.O.F., made final arrangements for their dance, which will take place tomorrow night at the Victoria Club, at the meeting held last night. Mrs. McKicking, honorary regent, addressed the meeting, and spoke in a most interesting manner with regard to the significance of the order's badge. The sum of $10 will be donated monthly to the secondary educational scheme, and $10 was voted to the Christmas relief fund. Two new members were welcomed into the Chapter, Miss Henry and Miss Jenkins. Preliminary plans were made in connection with the basis to take place at the Criterion on December 10.

Swordsmen Arrive—NEW YORKERS—British team of champion swordsmen, which will meet a United States team later this month in an international fencing tournament, was aboard the steamer Celtic, arriving here today. Captain Ronald Campbell, D.S.O., Gordon Highlanders, leads the team.

EMPIRE LEAGUE GIVES FIRST DINNER

Dean Quainton Says Patriotism to Country Will Eventually Become Internationalism for Humanity

High thinking and good eating characterized the first annual dinner of the British Empire Patriotic League, at the Dominion Hotel, last night, when the toast list included such well known speakers as Dean Quainton, Mr. B. C. Nicholas, Mr. Lindley Crease, K.C., and Mr. J. H. Beatty. The president, Brig.-General R. P. Clark, was toastmaster.

Following the honors to the King, proposed by General Clark, and responded to in the usual way with the National Anthem, Mr. Lindley Crease proposed the toast to the British Empire League, and likened the British Empire to a temple of justice and righteousness, which is the sacred repository of all that is best in the civilization of today.

Mr. Nicholas, who responded, said that the subject of the toast was much larger than the British Empire League, which was an organization for the maintenance of the best there is in the British Empire. If the Empire should fall and perish for any reason the world would be a loser, and there would be no need for an Empire League.

The toast to "Kindred Societies" was briefly proposed by Mr. J. H. Beatty, who said that the numerous organizations of this kind were the result of our democratic form of government and that, while they all sprang from different beginnings, they were like streams running toward, and eventually joining, in one big river of united effort.

Dean Quainton responded to the toast and said that in the matter of loyalty to the throne, the constitution and the Empire all patriotic societies are united. He would be glad to see when all of the patriotic organizations of the city should unite for one big dinner on Empire Day.

The following are the members of the executive who were elected during the evening: Brigadier-General R. P. Clark, Mr. L. Crease, K.C., Mr. A. C. Plummer, Mr. G. Richards, Mr. J. Hobbs, Mr. P. B. Scurrall, Mr. R. Berrill and Mr. George O'Neil.

The programme of speeches was interspersed with vocal selections by Mr. James Hunter, Mrs. R. Boudin and Mr. Llewellyn, who were loudly applauded, and closed with the National Anthem.

While girls are envying other peoples beautiful hair, they could have their own by using Nerbro's Herpicide. Sold at all Drug and Dept. Stores.

EXPECT GENEROUS SUPPORT FOR V. O. N.

Appeal for Funds Which Is Made This Week Should Meet With Ready Response—Work for Children Cited

Acting on the principle that every child born in a civilized country should be surrounded by conditions which shall enable it to develop every capacity that it has brought into the world, those interested in the Victorian Order of Nurses are making a special appeal for generous support for the V. O. N. drive next week on the grounds that the organization is primarily an organization to help the child.

While the Victorian nurses bring the comfort of practical service to the sick and poor generally, it is among the children that it, perhaps, does its best work. Its workers are constantly seeking the under-nourished children, and by treatment and advice are waging a campaign against disease. V. O. N. nurses assist Dr. Price at his work, and are generally striving in every way that humanly possible to improve the health of the little ones to become healthier, with the prospect of becoming better citizens.

The officials of the Order and its friends are expecting generous support of the financial drive next week.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommend Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion

One who finds in the stomach accumulation of gas, which is the result of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to ulceration, accompanied by various stomach ulcers. Food ferments and creates gas, which distends the stomach and hinders the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect ordinary digestive aids which have no harmful effect on the stomach acids. Instead of getting a very dangerous disease, one should take a few grains of Magnesia after eating. This will drive the gas, which is the cause of the trouble, out of the stomach, and prevent the formation of the excess acid and prevent the formation of the excess acid and prevent the formation of the excess acid.

Regulated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form) is a safe and harmless to the stomach, inasmuch as it is not a cathartic, but a mild laxative for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

CITY POLICE COURT

Lengthy Calendar. Mostly of Petty Misdemeanors. Disposed of before Magistrate Jay.

In the lengthy calendar which confronted Magistrate Jay in the City Police Court yesterday, only one case disposed of, that of Joseph J. Martin, was serious enough to demand the infliction of a prison sentence. The accused was convicted on a charge of stealing one rubber mat from a wrecked motor car, belonging to the Tourist (Drive Yourself) Auto Livery Company, on Humboldt Street, last Saturday week; and was sentenced to serve a term of one month's imprisonment.

The accused came up on remand for judgment; and in passing sentence the magistrate said that he had taken into account the previous good record of the defendant. Mr. R. C. Lowe appeared for the defence.

Alexander Constantine Anagnostis, charged with having unsealed liquor at the Atlantic Hotel, failed to appear; and the reiteration of his name in the corridors of the police court, albeit it was unheeded by Court Fisher Andrew Wood with the circumstance due to its dignity, still failed to summon the missing Anagnostis. A warrant was ordered to be issued for the defendant's arrest.

Donald McPherson, whose bail of $100 was forfeited last Friday, when he failed to appear in answer to a charge of driving a motor car while intoxicated, came into court yesterday and pleaded not guilty. Mr. C. K. Courtney, who appeared for the accused, obtained a remand until next Friday. Choy Man was convicted of having unsealed Chinese liquor in his premises at 557, Piggard Street, and was fined in the sum of $50 and $2.50 costs. A similar charge against Choy Jack, concerning the same liquor, was dismissed. Mr. R. C. Lowe appeared for the defence.

Charges alleging infraction of city by-laws were read against Hugh Valint, fined $1 for riding his bicycle on the sidewalk; and against Hop Lee of selling cigarettes to a boy under the age of 16. Hop Lee was convicted and fined in the sum of $10 and $2.50 costs. The charge against W. E. Copp of failing to stop his motor car behind a street car standing in discharge passengers, was withdrawn on its being shown that a mistake had been made in the information.

Austin R. McKenna, 19 years of age, pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy, and was remanded for judgment until this morning. Detective Inspector Perdue testified that the accused had obtained $25 from Bishop Macdonald on representations that he desired to return to his home in Calgary; and also that the young man had borrowed a suit of clothes from a Salvation Army man, and had returned to return it.

REAR ADMIRAL SCOTT OPPOSES BATTLESHIPS

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Rear Admiral Sir Percy Scott, former commander of the naval defences of London, and an opponent of big battleships, writing in The Times today remarks that the main feature of Secretary Hughes' proposals is whether battleships are to be built or not.

"I regard advocates of wasting money on battleships as lunatics," declares Sir Percy. "Why is the country's purse controlled by lunatics? For the ships it proposes to build will cost one hundred million pounds. The Government says this will give employment; so would the building of roads and railways."

Commercial Travellers
TORONTO, Nov. 14.—A general meeting of the Commercial Travellers' Association of Canada was held here Saturday with President Walter Moore in the chair. In his remarks he stated the year closing was one of the most prosperous in the history of the association, numerically and financially. A. C. Morrell and W. E. Towland were elected presidents for Winnipeg; Robert Stewart and E. W. Sterling for Vancouver.

BAZAAR TO TAKE PLACE ON FRIDAY

Members of Florence Nightingale Chapter, I.O.O.F., Arrange Event to Be Held at Criterion

Members of the Florence Nightingale Chapter, I.O.O.F., have been working most energetically for their bazaar, which will be held on Friday afternoon at the Criterion, and which will be formally declared open at 3 o'clock by Mrs. Curtis Sampson.

A beautiful and varied assortment of articles is the result of the members' handwork, and many pretty and reasonable Christmas gifts will be displayed on the different stalls, which will be under the following conveners: Baby stall, Mrs. H. R. McIntyre; fancy work, Miss K. Lovell; candy, Mrs. H. Callaghan; 50c and 55c tables, Mrs. H. K. Prior; home cooking, Mrs. Kylie Symons. Mrs. A. B. Hudson is convenor in chief of the affair, and Mrs. R. D. McCaw of the musical program.

The Chapter is well known for its philanthropic efforts, and the good interest the members take in both patriotic and hospital work, in particular their assistance in the tubercular ward of the Jubilee Hospital.

A special feature of the bazaar will be a stall displaying the work of the Red Cross workshop, under the charge of one of the returned soldiers, and during the afternoon a large wicker basket, the work of this institution, will be raffled.

This afternoon a meeting of the Chapter members will take place at the home of Mrs. F. C. Elliott, 10 Hampton Court, to make final arrangements for the bazaar, and all members are invited to be present.

LINEN SUPPLIES FOR HOSPITAL ARE ASKED

Jubilee Women's Auxiliary Announces St. Andrew's Day, November 30, as Date of Annual "Shower"

St. Andrew's Day, Wednesday, Nov. 30, has been selected for the annual linen shower for the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital under the direction of the Women's Auxiliary in aid of the supplies of linen for that institution.

The committee wishes it to be understood that the recent charity bazaar was generously promoted by the Musicians' Union of the city, and assisted by the Women's Auxiliary in common with all the principal women's societies of Victoria. It was held in aid of the general funds of the hospital, and that the funds of the Women's Auxiliary in no way benefited thereby. It is therefore just as necessary as ever to maintain the activities of this society, and a very special appeal is made on this occasion for towels, pillow-slips or serviettes.

The conveners of the committee are: Reception, Mrs. C. W. Rhodes; tea, Mrs. E. H. Griffiths; linen, Mrs. Beabrook Young; music, Mrs. Campbell. Further particulars will be given later.

SUGGESTS CHANGES IN ACT

Member for Fernie Proposes to Enlarge Scope of the Workmen's Compensation Act

Important amendments to the Workmen's Compensation Act will be submitted in the Legislature this week by Mr. Tom Smith, Labor member for Fernie, in line with the suggestions he made when speaking in the debate on the address. Mr. Uphill proposes to eliminate the existing three days' wait following injury to a workman, the present Act requiring that payment of compensation shall not commence until three days have expired. He will urge that if the injury enables the workman for more than ten days, compensation shall be payable for the whole period of disablement. Mr. Uphill's amendment also calls for a lump sum of $100 to the dependents on proof of dependency, in addition to other payments provided for. Where a workman leaves no widow or the widow subsequently dies, and it appears desirable to continue the existing household, it is proposed that the Board may recognize some other suitable person who undertakes to maintain the home and children as foster mother and make the same payment to such person and the children in her charge as would be made to a dependent widow and children. It is also proposed that in every case where death results from injury regardless of the existing, or otherwise, of any dependent, $1,000 shall be charged to the fund of the class to which such death is chargeable. If there are parents who are not dependent, but who have maintained such person during his or her non-productive years, $1,000 shall be paid to such parents.

Mr. Uphill also seeks to have the existing fifty-five per cent of a man's average earnings when injured in-

WANT SPECIAL RATE FOR PRAIRIE TRAVEL

Farmer Tourists Should Be Given Inducement to Spend Vacation on Coast, Chamber of Commerce Holds

Canadian transcontinental railroads will be asked by the Chamber of Commerce to put into effect special Winter excursion rates from the Prairies to the Coast.

Mr. Stephen Jones informed directors of the Chamber yesterday that the Canadian National Railways were advertising special rates for Winter travel from points in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba to the East, fare and one-third being quoted. He had not seen similar inducements offered for travel to the Pacific Coast.

"We need this Western tourist movement more this Winter than ever before, and if we don't get it, the community will suffer a serious loss," said Mr. Jones. "If special rates are not given, we cannot expect much of a tourist movement, because farmers are getting such a low price for their wheat that they are forced to practice economy."

Mr. Jones submitted a resolution to communicate with head officials of the Canadian National lines and the Canadian Pacific Railway with a view to having special rates offered. In this move the Chamber is co-operating with the Victoria and Island Development Association, and Commissioner J. G. Thomson yesterday afternoon dispatched a wire to Mr. W. E. Duperow, General Passenger Agent, C.N.R., at Winnipeg, urging that westbound service be encouraged on the same basis as eastbound.

CHAMBER ENDORSES PUBLICITY GRANT

Urges Provincial Government to Continue Support of Pacific Northwest Tourist Association

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday placed themselves on record as being in favor of the Provincial Government continuing its support to the Pacific Northwest Tourist Association.

Mr. John L. Beckwith, president of the Canadian Highway Association, and a director of the Pacific Northwest Tourist Association, stated that the regular quotas of the States of Washington and Oregon had been provided for, and it was imperative that British Columbia should keep in line.

A resolution favoring a Provincial grant of the usual $12,500 was carried without opposition. The Chamber decided to join with other public organizations to substantially demonstrate to Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Butchart, who are leaving shortly on a tour of the Orient, the gratitude of the community for their generosity in throwing open their gardens to the public.

In connection with tonight's meeting in the Chamber of Commerce assembly room, President J. H. Reilly issued the following statement:

"The Chamber of Commerce has merely rented the forum room to the British Columbia United Oil Co., Ltd., for use on Tuesday evening, November 15. The committee in charge, referred to on the invitation issued by the company, is not a Chamber of Commerce committee, but is presumably one composed of members of the company arranging the details of the meeting."

"The Chamber of Commerce has no further part in the meeting beyond letting the forum room to the company for a night, and the letter and notice of the meeting to attend are the only information relative to meeting that the Chamber has had."

LAWN TENNIS CLUB DANCE TONIGHT

The dance to be given by the Victoria Tennis Club this evening, in the Alexandra ballroom, promises to be a successful one of a long list of most enjoyable functions held under the auspices of this popular organization.

The dance committee, under the direction of their energetic secretary, Mr. F. A. Jackson, have been hard at work, and all arrangements have been completed and every detail attended to that will insure the guests of the club a splendid evening's enjoyment.

The club has a membership of about 400, and each member has been circulated with a view to their attendance, as it is the hope that this particular dance will have the largest attendance of the series up to date. The proceeds of the dance are to be devoted to the payment of a new cinder-play court, now being constructed. The club members and their friends are being exhorted to assist in the scheme in every way possible, and in order to help the committee to arrive at an approximate estimate of the number there will be present and proper provision made for the supper, all those having tickets are requested to make returns to Mr. F. A. Jackson, 705 Belmont Building, without delay.

Professor Heaton's orchestra will provide the dance music. The dancing

Make Your House a Genuine HOME!

A SOCIAL handicap to many a young family lies in the fact that their home was furnished at a time when well-made and genuinely artistic furniture was a little too expensive for the average purse.

Great changes have come to the family fortunes of nearly everybody within the last decade. Artistic furniture to-day is well within reach.

Your children are associating with those of other well-to-do people. They meet them at school, they accompany them to their homes. It means a great deal to the self-respect and social status of your girls and boys if they can bring their friends home with them occasionally and not feel in any sense apologetic. Furniture of twenty years ago offers such a sharp contrast to that of the up-to-date, tastefully furnished home-like homes of to-day. Ask your local dealer to show you examples of the good modern furniture we mean. It costs less than you think. It would make so much difference to your dining room or your living room!

The exact dining room suite pictured in the illustration above is made in Canada and can be supplied by your local dealer. It is in the style of the Italian Renaissance, late 17th Century, but simplified in accordance with modern taste. Italian Renaissance furniture is very much in vogue at the present time.

Tigers Defeat Ramblers and Wanderers Win From Army Wasps

Two good games were played on Saturday night in the Y.M.C.A. House League, the first match resulting in a win for the Tigers, who easily disposed of the Ramblers by 23-13 in the "B" division. The second game was won by the Wanderers, who forced the Army Wasps to taste defeat by 20-15.

The Tigers and Ramblers are two teams picked from the business men's classes. The Tigers led throughout, and stopped the Ramblers from rambling on to victory. The teams were as follows: Tigers—Lewis, McGregor, Margison, McNeill, Matheson, Hamblin—Mercer, Deffett, Crawford, Squire, Staples.

A whirlwind struggle was the second tussle. Play was much faster than the score would indicate. The Army Wasps, having lost last week, were out to retaliate, but were unable to accomplish their desire. The Wanderers, of the Young Men's evening class, who were their opponents, played a steady game and deserved to win. The teams were: Wanderers—Smith, Hume, Melville, Claire, Greaves, Army Wasps—Menkus, Hague, Plumb, Squire, Jones.

UP-ISLAND SOCCER

NANAIMO, Nov. 14.—Nanaimo City football team visited Ladysmith yesterday and after a strenuous game, especially in the second half, succeeded in winning by a score of three goals to one. During the first half Ladysmith had most of the play, but did not land the ball in the net. Nanaimo in this half missed several opportunities when a goal seemed almost certain.

Davenport football team suffered a reverse at the hands of Cumberland yesterday on the grounds of the latter team, the final score being 2-2. The home team proved too fast for the visitors early in the game, but once Davenport settled down they gave a much better display, but this point came too late in the game to enable them to overcome the big lead.

APPEAL TO COUNCIL FOR BETTER GROUNDS

Cricketers, With Backing of Other Organizations, Approach City Fathers for Improved Sport Facilities

Pursuant to their efforts to secure better facilities for all outdoor games, and cricket in particular in Victoria, the Victoria and District Cricket Association has addressed a letter to the Parks Committee of the City Council asking for municipal support in the matter.

The letter points out the present pressing need for greater facilities for playing games in the city, such as the supply of grounds in good condition, also the erection of shelters or pavilions fitted with suitable sanitary arrangements for the accommodation not only of players but of spectators also. It is pointed out that conditions in the city are now such that a great deal of distress is prevalent owing to want of employment, and it is suggested that money, either in small or large amounts, spent in this way by the City Council would be well invested, as it would not only be the means of providing work for a few at any rate, but would naturally assist in the upkeep in the capital value of the city property, and would be of added value as an extra attraction and advertisement. It is pointed out that today the ethical value of games in the building up of citizenship is generally recognized, and that most cities are now giving every possible aid to the public enjoyment of games in their varied forms. In support of this, letters are enclosed from Winnipeg, Calgary, Edmonton and Vancouver giving details of municipal assistance to games in the cities.

Another point raised in the letter is the building up of citizenship in the schools of the city and district. Specific Requests While asking for assistance generally, the association makes specific requests for a junior cricket ground and lawn tennis courts to be laid on Heywood Avenue, Beacon Hill Park, also that the Beacon Hill cricket ground be put in playing condition, sewer connection made for the Jubilee Hospital ground and free use granted of city roller for two or three days in the season. It is also asked that a nominal fee only be charged for the use of water on that ground instead of full rates as at present.

The association would also like to see the Willows ground put into good shape, so that it will be available for future needs. It is stated that the aims and objects of the Cricket Association have been heartily endorsed by letters received from the following associations: Army and Navy Veterans, Great War Veterans, Veterans of France, Chamber of Commerce, Parent-Teachers' Association, Provincial Civil Service Association, Kunitz Club, Rotary Club, Gyro Club, Kiwanis Club, Victoria and Island Development Association, Victoria Grass Hockey Association, Victoria and District Amateur Football Association, Victoria Rugby Football Association, Victoria Lawn Tennis Club, and Victoria Amateur Baseball League.

PATRICK SUGGESTS RULES FOR PLAY-OFF

Home and Home Games Between Coast and Western Hockey Associations—Winners to Go East

VANCOUVER, Nov. 12.—Taking up the matter of a world series play-off between the Coast and Western Canada organizations, and acting on behalf of the National Hockey League as well as his own organization, Frank Patrick has suggested to President E. L. Richardson, of the Western Canada Hockey League, that home and home games be played. The date suggested for the first game is March 7, Coast playing rules to prevail, and Coast officials to handle the game on the Coast Ice. The second game, in the East, if the arrangements meet with the approval of Richardson and his conferees, will be played on prairie ice on Western Canada. The rules and officials in operation in the game. Total goals of the two games will count the victory, and the winners of the little series will then travel East to play the champions of the National League, which the first game set for March 15.

The Western Canada League has already drawn its schedule, with the season opening on December 12, and two teams in Edmonton, one at Saskatoon and one in Calgary comprising the circuit. The play-off rule which is in effect on the Coast, to determine the championship of the prairie or the West, will prevail, and the last game in the play-off is scheduled for March 3, giving plenty of time for the Western Canada winners to make the journey to the Coast and carry into effect the proposed plan of Patrick for the world series preliminary contests.

To further bring the details of the world series plans to a head, it is agreed that, to participate in the major post-season games, players in all leagues shall have been signed prior to their respective clubs prior to February 15 to make them eligible to represent any club in the big doings.

LONDON SOCCER CLUBS PROVIDE SURPRISES

Chelsea and Tottenham Only First Leaguers to Win Away From Home; Blackburn Stop Huddersfield

LONDON, Nov. 14.—For the first time this season, the weather seriously interfered Saturday with the football programme in the Old Country. The fog, which was confined to the Midlands, caused the abandonment of the amateur international fixture between the North-East and London clubs, and Notts Forest and Notts County, while the Coventry City-Derby County match was postponed when the game was twenty minutes old. Notts Forest and County will play their postponed game tomorrow.

Elsewhere the frost put a step to several rugby games. As usual the London clubs supplied the surprises of the day, on this occasion with credit to themselves. A crowd of 30,000 but a near-perfect performance against Birmingham, whom they beat 5-2. Chelsea, who defeated Sheffield United and Tottenham, again Newcastle United, achieved the distinction of being the only teams in the first league who registered victories away from home.

Everton achieved their fifth draw of the season so far, this time with Liverpool as their opponents. Blackburn, with a reorganised team, defeated Huddersfield, thus administering to their visiting opponents the first defeat they have suffered since September.

HOCKEY AMATEURS ROUNDING INTO SHAPE

Four League Teams All Have Hard Workouts and Are Showing Good Class for So Early in Season

During the past week the four teams in the race for the Dudley Cup, emblematic of the Victoria Senior amateur ice hockey championship, had strenuous workouts, and by Monday, December 5, the opening night of the schedule, all will be in the pink of condition for the big fray.

The four managers, Charlie Burnett (Elks), Major Hughes (Garrison), George Strath (Senators) and Aubrey Jones (G.W.V.A.), have been busy signing on their players for this season, and at the present time it is impossible to give any definite line-ups. Only three weeks remain before the opening games, and no time is being lost in rounding up the regular hockey stars. During the past week the four teams were out in full force and went through some very strenuous workouts. Each team will have about three more practices before the league opens, and it is planned to make the most of these. Last week every man that could skate and handle a stick turned out, and the managers are now weeding out the poor ones. By next week each team will be getting pretty well into shape and their regulars lined up.

Improvement Shows The Senators, Elks, Garrison and G.W.V.A. are lining up a fast crowd, and, if reports are true, the other three teams had better watch out. Ross Miller and Russell Catman have been signed to play with the Senators. The majority of last year's team will be in the line-up, which includes Harry Copas, Roy Copas, Alf Jacklin, Rip McDonald, Dugley and Tackwell.

The Garrison are searching for new players in a quiet way. At the work-out Thursday evening they had quite a number of players out trying to catch a berth, including Louis Glazen, Ole Fraser and Ed. Allen. Percy Fitzsimmons will be the Garrison's strong man this season, and will act as captain of the sextette.

By the end of next week something more definite in the way of line-ups will be available from the managers, but from present prospects things look pretty rosy for amateur hockey this season.

Official Elected Provincial
President—Changes Made in By-Laws and Constitution

VANCOUVER, Nov. 14.—Percy Watson, of Victoria, was elected the new president of the B.C. Amateur Hockey Association at a very enthusiastic meeting held here on Saturday night. The full list of officers elected was as follows:

Honorary president, W. G. Chester, Vancouver; hon. vice-president, J. Mowatt, Victoria; president, Percy Watson, Victoria; vice-president, Geo. Cunningham, Vancouver; secretary, J. C. Macken, Vancouver; executive, A. Fellows and A. Jeffery, Vancouver; C. Burnett and George Strath, Victoria.

Many changes of major and others of minor importance, were made in the B. C. constitution. One of the works of the association this year will be an effort to boost the game in the inland towns, and include more affiliated locals in the governing body.

Mr. Mowatt's amendment to allow intermediate players more than two games to make senior company was turned down unanimously.

A change in the protest clause calling for a deposit of $25 was agreed upon.

In regard to players whom the league officials are dissatisfied with, a new law was included giving the body powers to refuse said players permission to play.

Must Register Players
Clubs here and in Victoria will register all players with the provincial secretary, according to a new rule.

A clause calling for the completion of schedules by a certain date to allow B.C. teams to finish in time to enter Allan cup series, was inserted. The by-law calling for all matches starting on time or a fine for the offending club will be enforced this season.

All clubs will be voted legitimate travelling expenses subject to approval of the executive.

There is a rule calling for only eight men in uniform on one team, and, though never enforced, an official request was made that this be complied with this season.

Six-man hockey and the rules of the C. A. H. A. will govern the play in all matches.

A change was suggested to allow each team one point at the end of regular play in a draw game, but the meeting ruled that C. A. H. A. rules calling for overtime play must be complied with.JORDAN RIVER FIVE
WINS FROM FIREMEN

Last Saturday the newly-formed basketball team of the Victoria Fire Department made a run to Jordan River and opened the season by starring a game with the Riverites. A large crowd turned out and witnessed a fast and clean game. During the first half each team had their turn at leading the score, but the Riverites ended it by being 4 points to the good, the score being 17 to 13. The second half proved more a huge success as each team seemed to get down to real work and show more combination. However, Jordan River kept the lead and the final score was 24 to 19. For a new team the firemen made a brilliant showing, and, with more practice, should be one of the city's fastest quintettes.

The teams lined up as follows:
Victoria Fire Department—Forwards, Bryers and Matthews; centre, Reid, guards, Glynn and Riddle.

Jordan River—Forwards, D. I. Walker and J. M. Elliott; centre, P. Giacomini; guards, B. Lee, A. Julest and A. E. Holmwood.

Following the game a dance was held in the Social Hall and everyone attended. During the evening a large fruit cake, donated by Mrs. A. Kirby, was raffled and won by Mrs. King, of Otter Point. Dancing was continued into the small hours, and everyone pronounced the evening a huge success. Mrs. H. Vogel, of Otter Point, and J. M. Elliott supplied the music.

CHANGES ITS RULESFollow Coast Scheme in Arranging Hockey Schedule—
Five-Year Agreement With
N. H. A. Is Signed

TORONTO, Nov. 14.—A straight schedule of 48 games with the first and second teams playing off for the championship, the old penalty system, and a regulation allowing a goalkeeper's pass out 40 feet, were the principal changes adopted by the board of governors of the National Hockey League for the professional game this winter here today.

Leo Dandurand, of Montreal, presented his credentials as purchaser of the Canadian franchise for a sum of $1,000, and was elected to the board of governors to succeed the late George Kennedy.

Frank Calder, of Montreal, presided at the meeting.

Are Unanimous
The changes in the rules were moved by Ottawa and seconded by Toronto. They were carried unanimously. By reverting to the old penalty rules, when a player commits a foul he is put off and no other player takes his place. There had been some discussion in support of a suggestion that no player should be banished if it would leave less than four players on his team on the ice, but this was not considered at today's meeting, and for every player who commits a foul no substitute will be sent in. In the case of a match foul it is left with the referees to decide whether the offender shall be off for ten minutes, 20 minutes or the remainder of the game. The straight schedule follows the example of the Pacific Coast Hockey League, also the goalkeeper's pass, which, however, is somewhat shorter than that allowed on the Coast.

A resolution of condolence to the relatives of the late George Kennedy was passed.

Five-Year Agreement
The governors, on behalf of their clubs, signed a five-year agreement, to stick by the National Hockey League.

The permanent board of referees was appointed, consisting of Lou Marsh, Harvey Sproule, Charlie McKinley and Cooper Heston.

The question of the schedule was discussed at length, but as the referees will have to ascertain the available dates in the local arena, the adoption of the schedule was left over until the annual meeting, which will be held in Montreal a week from next Saturday. Each team will play 12 home games, and the season must be completed by March 15 in order that the N.H.L. champions may be ready to meet the other champions in the Stanley Cup series.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 14.—The Edmonton Eskimos won the championship of the Western Canada rugby union when they defeated the Winnipeg Victorias here today, 14 to 6, in the final. The contest was played on a snow-covered field which made the footing and handling of the ball very slippery, but despite this handicap, the teams played in sensational form and one of the hardest struggles of the season developed.

The score by quarters: First quarter—Edmonton, 3; Winnipeg, 1. Half-time—Edmonton, 6; Winnipeg, 3. Third quarter—Edmonton, 10; Winnipeg, 2. Final—Edmonton, 14; Winnipeg, 6.

SOCIALIST CANDIDATE
IN PESSIMISTIC MOODDiscusses Disarmament Conference and Sees No Hope in It for Solution of World's Problems

"The air is full of noises regarding the subject of peace and its possibility," said Mr. W. A. Pritchard, Socialist candidate for Nanaimo, at the opening of his recent talk on the subject of "Disarmament," at the Columbia Theatre Sunday evening.

Today," he continued, "writers in widely-circulated magazines, and newspapers were making statements similar to those made a few years ago by men who then were persecuted and killed for daring to give such opinions expression," and he intended to quote some of these statements.

Quoting from a recent article, "Will they Fool Us Twice?" by Wm. Allen White, giving an American view of the Washington Conference, the speaker backed up the oft-made assertion that the problems before the Peace Conference at Versailles were not settled, but that the Peace Treaty had only complicated matters. This writer also insisted that Europe would send to the conferences men with "eyes to grind," but that America had no such policy, a statement which the speaker characterized as nonsense, and cited the controversy over the Island of Yap as one of the points exciting America.

"Europe," according to Mr. White, "thought of the war in terms of colonies and indemnities, and commercial advantages," and all manner of material things, and said Mr. Pritchard, in spite of assertions that America wanted the good of humanity, there was the question of bonded indebtedness loomed large in the minds of the men behind the rulers of America. When phrases were needed to camouflage the issue and rouse the American people, ex-President Wilson was useful, but when commercial interests were at stake, he was ruthlessly thrown aside.

At the conference the French proposed to pool their war debts," Mr. White stated. "The British rather timidly seconded this proposal. Japan and America, having most of the 100 per cent of the world's population, a hint of it came out officially during the conference." Could this, said Mr. Pritchard, be considered as a sample of "open covenants, openly arrived at?"

The writer of the article in question had also much to say about the bitter strife for positions of vantage at the Peace Conference, and of the stage play made to deceive an "ignorant public."

Britain's Heavy Burden
Mr. Gardner, in presenting the British viewpoint, mentioned the problems now facing Great Britain, and pointed out that today "taxation has passed the limit of productivity. With a trade one-half what it was before the war, we are raising a revenue for national expenditure six times as great as in pre-war days."

This condition, said the speaker, demonstrated that our present social system was breaking under the strain. To protect financial interests, trade routes, spheres of influence, coaling stations, etc., we had raised up, said Mr. Pritchard, a Frankenstein monster in the shape of navies and armies whose upkeep was now so costly that it threatened disaster, hence the cry for disarmament. So long as our present social and commercial system, with its fundamental principle of production for sale and its exploitation of labor lasted, there was no escape from the bitter rivalry for markets, which culminated in war. War and preparation for war has become such a costly business that the strangulation of industry is threatened. Nations bankrupted by war were unable to buy, and were suffering privation for lack of the goods which creditor nations had in such abundance, and were unable to sell, so that the wheels of industry had slowed down and the peoples of these countries were suffering in the midst of superabundance. Our social system was such that if a programme of disarmament were carried out, the thousands whose livelihood in the plant had been dependent on employment on the building of ships, the manufacture of munitions of war, and the necessities of the men composing the personnel of armies and navies would be thrown onto the labor market, and the solution of one problem would only intensify another to a degree almost unimaginable.

Miss Marie Lohr and Company
Open Week's Engagement at Royal Theatre With "The Marionettes"

After seeing last night at the Royal Victoria Theatre such auto-convincing evidence to the contrary, it would be asking too much of weak human nature to insist that so hopelessly mismanaged a marriage as is depicted in the first act of "The Marionettes" could ever have worked so happily as is shown in the final scene of the fourth and last act of the same play. Of course, the conviction is entirely due to the supreme skill of Miss Marie Lohr, whose astounding popularity, both in England and this continent, found ample explanation in her exquisite acting and gracious personality, and to Mr. Herbert Marshall, who, as the Marquis and Marquis de Monclaire respectively, donned with the utmost apparent naturalness the roles demanded of them by the situations created by the playwright. In the middle of the acts were frequent—and quite pardonable, in view of the fitness with which various little scenes were presented—and at the conclusion of the play the curtain descended and rose half a dozen times before Miss Lohr came forward in response to continued applause and expressed her thanks and appreciation of the welcome accorded her by her first Victorian audience. Miss Lohr has a unique reputation, and this she more than sustained in "The Marionettes." Without resorting to the grotesque, she made a sharp definition between the modest, conventional bride of the opening act and the radiant woman of the third and fourth: her quiet and suppressed manner as well as her simple frock of the first act contrasting markedly with the consciously beautiful and richly dressed Marquise of the subsequent scenes. Her acting was superb throughout, and had the advantage of not relying for its effectiveness on one or two big emotional scenes solely. Having seen her clever treatment of the dramatic episode of the first act, when her husband brutally rejects her avowals of love, the audience had not seen the full gamut of her powers. There was always a new phase of her ability in reserve, each as convincingly acted as the last, and always with a fine restraint and dignity worthy of the character of the Marquise, even when she been beaten back by the cruel cynicism that "nothing bores people nowadays like a good woman."

A splendid supporting company rounded out a performance which is another triumph for Miss Marie Lohr as well as for the Trans-Canada Theatres, Limited, one of the particular favorites of the evening being Herbert Ross, whose fine study of the old uncle, Monsieur de Ferney, won all hearts.

"The Marionettes" is running again tonight at the Royal, and Victoria will have opportunities any night during the week to see this tremendously popular English actress in one of the three plays which she is giving during her stay in the city.

DOMINION Drama so poignant that laughter follows closely upon tears; characterization of the highest quality; superb acting and direction that has adequately "high lighted" the various situations—such as Elsie Ferguson's new Paramount picture, "Sacred and Profane Love," which opened last evening at the Dominion Theatre for a six days' run. "Sacred and Profane Love" won fame as a stage play because of the remarkable tenacity of its drama. Now Arnold Bennett's great story has been made into a photoplay to the consequent enrichment of its values. Elsie Ferguson, in the star role of Carlotta, scores the same decided success she achieved in the same part on the speaking stage. The supporting cast richly deserves the title "all-star." Conrad Nagel as "Dias" paints a perfect picture of the eccentric and dissipated pianist. Thomas Holding, Winifred Greenwood, Helen Dunbar, Raymond Brathway, Charles Selwyn and Howard Gaye were excellent.

CAPITOL A practically all-star cast was chosen by Director William de Mille for his latest Paramount picture production, "After the Show," which will be featured at the Capitol Theatre this week. Jack Holt, now a Paramount star; Lila Lee, beautiful and charming and popular; and Charles Ogle, one of the best known character actors of the screen, are the featured players. The supporting players are well known stage and screen artists. They include Eve Sothern, a beautiful actress; Shannon Day, formerly of the "Follies"; Stella Slocum; Carlton King and Ethel Wales. The story of the picture, by Rita Weiman, deals with the stage as did her story, "Footlights," in which Elsie Ferguson is the star. Some thirty beautiful young women who represent the chorus of a musical comedy appear in the theatre scenes.

COLUMBIA Lloyd Osbourne, author of "Where Lights Are Low," at the Columbia Theatre until tomorrow. Osbourne Hayakawa's most recent R-C Pictures Corporation release, dates his influence on the world's literate back to the days when he was a mere slip of a boy. When but a boy his father died, and a year or so later his mother married Robert Louis Stevenson, who then was unknown to fame and who moved his little family from

JASCHA HEIFETZ, THE POLISH VIOLINIST

An announcement of great interest to lovers of music in the city is that Jascha Heifetz, the Polish violinist, is to give a recital in Victoria on Monday, Nov. 28. Having been appointed exclusive representative of Steinway & Sons' pianos, Mrs. Ricardo and Messrs. Fletcher Bros. have successfully negotiated for the appearance of this noted artist, and arrangements are under discussion for others equally well known to come to the city during the present season. The definite announcement by them of Heifetz's appearance here has been expected for several days by students and others who have been following this artist's movements in his present tour, so while the statement will be hailed with general delight it is not quite unanticipated. Heifetz is one of the youngest as well as one of the greatest masters of the violin, being still hardly twenty years of age. He began playing the violin at three, completed the course at the Royal Nysse School in Vilna, Poland, at the age of seven, and after a period of study with Professor Leopold Auer in Petrograd was a matured artist at the age of ten. His tour through Russia was a triumph, and since then he has taken America by storm with a technique which is as startling as his maturity of expression.

this country to Scotland, where he continued to struggle for recognition as a writer. In those days Lloyd Osbourne was not as strong as other boys, and spent most of his time with his stepfather, who was the idol of his young life. For hours he would sit watching him write stories and wondering what happened to them after they were finished, for he had never been able to find anyone who had ever read or even heard of his stepfather's works. Never did Stevenson write a story, however, that Lloyd Osbourne didn't ponder over it. In "Where Lights Are Low," the original title of which was "East is West," he deals with the adventures of a Chinese prince who comes to this country to be educated and who, through fate, is cast into that crucible of San Francisco's Chinatown where he becomes little better than a coolie. In the hands of a writer of lesser stuff the theme of the story would promise little, but Osbourne's masterful treatment has made it one of the most powerful vehicles in which Sessue Hayakawa has ever appeared.

AMATEUR ACTORS PLAY

The second night of the Victoria West Brotherhood's entertainment was a big success and again Simple's Hall was crisscrossed to the doors with an enthusiastic Saturday night audience. The Western Star Dramatic Society is to be congratulated on its presentation of the comedy drama, in three acts, "The Heart of a Shamrock." These clever amateur actors performed their parts with entertaining skill and real merit. The cast of characters was as follows: Father O'Neil—our pastor, A. J. Clunk; Bob, "The Sheriff"—his brother, A. W. Semple; "Laddie"—the youngest brother, J. H. Hasenfratz; Grizzly Adams—a cattleman, R. Winter; May—an Irish rose, Miss F. Hasenfratz; Glad—a city wail, Miss A. Pindler; Mrs. Donovan—the housekeeper, Miss V. Harper; Joan—a ranchman's daughter, Miss E. Rice.

A dance followed the entertainment and was well attended. The proceeds are to be devoted to charity.

SCHOOL PRESENTATION

A pleasant event took place in St. Mary's Sunday School, Oct. 30, on Sunday afternoon, when the presentation of an illuminated address and a purse was made to Mr. W. Moore, who has been superintendent for eight years and is retiring on account of ill-health.

Rev. G. H. Andrews, the rector, spoke of Mr. Moore's good work, and the address was read by Ernest Simpson, one of the boys of the school, and the purse presented by Miss Beatrice Rutan. The illuminating work on the address was done by Mrs. Johnston.

Mr. Moore thanked them for their kind expression of appreciation and asked them to give his successor, Capt. Brown, the same support they had given to him.

EIGHT HUNDRED ATTEND CONCERT

Large Throng Enjoyed Entertainment Saturday Night at Community Centre—Danced on New Floor

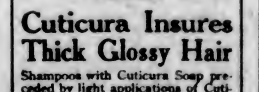

The best community entertainment yet given by the 5th Regiment, C.G.A., was held Saturday night in Victoria's Community Centre, at the new Drill Hall, where 800 people spent the evening listening to the band concert, watching the basketball game and indulging in the dancing.

Sergeant Major Frank Hatcher made an excellent master of ceremonies. The evening's programme opened with a band concert by the 5th Regiment Band, under Bandmaster Albert Rumsby, when the popular musical selections were heartily enjoyed. Colonel F. A. Robertson, D.S.O., O.C., the 5th Regiment, spoke briefly about the community concert proposals and appealed for continued public support.

The new dancing floor, which covers the greater portion of the floor of the Drill Hall, was utilized Saturday night by the large throng of dancers. The floor has been constructed for the coming police ball, and patrons of Saturday night's affair were surprised when the committee in charge of the entertainment threw the new floor open for dancing.

An exciting game of basketball was played between two ladies' teams, St. Andrew's and Christ Church. The former club won the match, the final score reading 16-6 in their favor. The game was very close. Bob White gave satisfaction as referee. The two teams were: St. Andrew's—Miss Jean Burridge, Sarah McGill, Gwen Holo, Brenda Hamilton, Doris Grubb; Christ Church—Misses Grace Wellburn, Kathleen Wellburn, Florrie Gates, Phyllis Gates, Marjorie Locke.

Refreshments were served during the evening by the Esquimalt Chapter, I.O.G.E. The National Anthem brought the function to a close at 11 o'clock. It is expected that an indoor baseball match will be played this week-end, while another basketball game is also planned.

Where Women fail

With all their heroism, with all their magnificent successes, women are apt to fail in one thing—they do not feed themselves properly. A scratch meal, or even a cup of tea, takes the place of that ordered diet by which alone bodily efficiency can be maintained. Enthusiasm outruns strength, and sooner or later comes the breakdown.

You cannot do efficient work on inefficient food.
That way disaster lies.

Be practical in your feeding as you are practical in your work. Make a habit of taking a cup of Bovril at eleven in the morning—at least let Bovril convert your hurried lunch into an efficient meal. You will soon find what a difference it makes.

All the time you are "taking it out of" yourself, the Bovril will be building up your strength for the next effort, safeguarding you against a breakdown. Instead of failing to profit by the other food you take, as so many over-tired, over-strained women do, you will get the maximum amount of benefit from it if you take Bovril.

ACCOUNTANTS' BILL

Measure to Incorporate Institute Meets With Opposition in Private Bills Committee

The provision of the bill to incorporate the Institute of Chartered Accountants of British Columbia, designed, its advocates told the private bills committee yesterday morning, to bring this Province into line with other Provinces and prohibit unqualified men to become incorporated as accountants or use any designation implying they are qualified or possess a certain standard of efficiency, met with opposition when the committee proceeded to hear arguments for and against it.

Opposition came from Mr. A. D. Macfarlane, representing Victoria parties, four in number, who, while possessed of certain alleged qualifications, would be barred from becoming members of the Institute, though Mr. Gordon Sloan, counsel appearing for the Institute, held that such men would still be permitted to practice. The bill as now presented is similar to one passed in 1914, with the added restriction that no person shall be entitled to use the designation "Chartered Accountant" or the initials "C. A." or "A. C. A." either alone or in conjunction with any other words, or any name, title or description implying he is a chartered accountant, or any name, title or description implying he is a member of the Institute. Such a provision, Mr. Macfarlane held, would prevent any men not of the Institute becoming incorporated in any other accountants' body.

"What this bill is seeking is not uniformity of legislation, but uniformity of privilege," declared Mr. Macfarlane, but Mr. Sloan held that it would not affect a single man in securing proper credentials on passing his examinations.

The members of the committee, without committing themselves, appeared to see no reason at this time for additions to the 1914 Act, but promised consideration of the representations made.

WANT ISLAND RAIL SERVICE EXTENDED

Chamber of Commerce Committee Submits Four Proposals—Would Give Direct Route to Fishing Grounds

Advailibility of extending the Canadian National line to Cowichan Lake in one direction, and to Alberni Canal in another, and provision of regular rail connection between Victoria and Sooke, was discussed by directors of the Chamber of Commerce at their luncheon in the Dominion Hotel, yesterday.

A special committee, composed of Messrs. Jamieson, chairman; F. W. Jones and J. G. Thomson, commissioners of the Victoria and Island Development Association, submitted a report recommending that the Chamber urge Hon. S. F. Timmins, Minister of Agriculture; Mr. A. E. Warren, general manager of the Canadian National Railways, and Premier Oliver to give the matter immediate attention in order that construction may be commenced without delay.

After considerable discussion, centering mainly upon the desirability of recommending the building of a branch line to Cowichan Bay to handle refrigerator car traffic from the West Coast fishing towns, it was decided to refer the report back to the committee in order that this particular phase of the question may be given more thorough consideration.

The committee's report, based upon investigations into the island's transportation needs during the last few weeks, follows:

Your committee appointed to go into the questions of early resumption of construction of the line of the Canadian National Railways to tap the country at the head of Nitinat Lake, the establishment of adequate train facilities to serve the territory between Victoria and Sooke station, and the development of possible traffic to assure train operation, begs to report as follows:

Confer With Premier

An interview with Premier Oliver elicited the information that at the time he arranged to supply the rails from Pacific Great Eastern stock to force the laying of track on the island line of the Canadian Northern Pacific no promises were secured as to the limit of time in which the Sooke-Cowichan Lake and Nitinat extension was to be completed; and, further, that he could not bring his official power to bear other than by representations to the Canadian National Railways in support of any practical suggestions the Victoria Chamber of Commerce might make to the Canadian National Railways, and which he will be glad to do.

Your committee is reliably informed that of the supply of rails loaned by the British Columbia Government to the Canadian National Railways from Pacific Great Eastern stock, there remains on hand here a balance sufficient for the laying of twenty-six miles of main line track, not allowing for sidetrack and switch requirements. This rail supply would provide for the laying of track, beyond the section already completed, to within approximately eight or ten miles of the head of Nitinat Lake.

Therefore your committee recommends that the following representations be made to the president, the Canadian National Railways, and that copies of such be forwarded also to the Minister of Railways, to Hon. S. F. Timmins, to Mr. A. E. Warren, General Manager Canadian National Railways at Winnipeg, and to Premier Oliver:

Recommendations

1. That the Canadian National Railways be urged to resume track-laying as soon as possible to the Empire Lumber Company's plant on Cowichan Lake where rapid freight and rail transportation is urgent, and to continue construction on to Nitinat Lake, thereby opening up a valuable timber district and the access to certain of the West Coast fish canneries, which must now rely on an intermittent and hazardous service by water. The extension of the line to Nitinat would develop a traffic that would justify a better and more frequent freight service and encourage the establishment of lumber mills in areas of good timber that would increase the freight movement for the line.

2. That a daily mixed passenger and freight service be established at an early date, serving the settlements between Victoria and Sooke Station, and, it is suggested in this connection, in order to keep the operating cost down to a minimum, that the motive power used be gas-electric car or steam dummy with a boxcar trailer for way freight, and express to provide for the handling of milk and other farm products into Victoria, and the distribution of commodities (provisions, etc.) from Victoria to the various settlements between Victoria and Sooke.

Would Stimulate Settlement It is the opinion of the committee that with the establishment of adequate service to Sooke, increased settlement to the Metehosin and Sooke districts will proceed with a resultant traffic development. It is a fact that the lack of transportation to these districts is retarding development in spite of lower land values in comparison with those in Saanich, Cowichan and other districts.

3. The establishment and construction of community camps at one or two points on the line, situated for the scenic attraction they offer, to draw the summer tourist, is suggested as a means to traffic development and revenue. The cost of construction of such camps as suggested is moderate. The same might be leased on favorable terms to private interests for operation. Camps of this kind are being successfully operated elsewhere, and the traffic resulting will help meet operating cost of train service.

Dominant Fish Trade

4. In view of the extensive fresh fish catch (halibut, etc.), from the waters of the West Coast of the island which the American fishing fleet from Seattle appears to successfully control, and which moves to that port for shipment east, it is suggested that the attention of the Canadian National Railways be drawn to the opportunity afforded of dominating the situation by the extension of the line to a point on lower Alberni Canal, with provision of necessary fish receiving spot and icing plant, and through refrigerator car service by ferry to Mainland and passenger train movement east. This suggestion would provide also for the early construction of a branch line connecting the main line with Cowichan Bay and car ferry to eliminate mileage and assure the necessary dispatch between the West Coast and the British Columbia Mainland terminal. Prince Rupert controls the fresh fish business of the northern waters, and the same condition can be brought about with the necessary handling facilities installed on the West Coast of the island.

Mr. J. G. Thomson stated that more than 600 fishing boats were operating out of Seattle, and many of them carried on their operations off the West Coast of the island. Provision of direct rail connection with the West Coast and refrigerator cars, he believed, would tend to keep the industry for Canadians.

Sooke Land Cheap

Mr. Thomson pointed out that development of the Sooke Lake district would be greatly stimulated by the provision of rail service. Cleared land in that district could be purchased at $225 an acre, while similar land in Saanich was being marketed at more than $400. He said that the Provincial Government complained of the roads to Sooke being torn up by heavy motor truck traffic. This would be eliminated, he said, if freight could be sent down by railway.

Ald. Todd opposed construction to Cowichan Lake on the grounds that Victoria's interests would not be served by such a project, pointing out that freight from the West Coast would be routed direct to the Mainland and would not touch Victoria.

Mr. W. A. Jamieson said that the line to Sooke was 90 per cent graded, and very little additional work would be required to establish service. He believed the Chamber was justified in asking for the extension, and said that a petition was now being circulated in Sooke urging early construction.

Mr. J. O. Cameron supported Ald. Todd's contention against the Cowichan Lake project, saying that it would cost $250,000 to build the necessary barge facilities, and that only about three hours' time would be saved.

ASK GOVERNMENT TO GRANT SALE OF BEER

Delegation Appears Before the Cabinet and Presses for Amendments to Liquor Act—Strongly Supported

Urging upon the Government the need of, at the present session of the Legislature, amending the existing C. Liquor Act to permit of sale of beer by the glass, a delegation composed of members of the Moderation League, of Vancouver, and the Liberty League, of Victoria, waited upon the Premier yesterday morning, and proffered their request, one similar to that presented at the last session of the House. The delegation did not attempt to go into details, but contented itself with dealing with the broad principle of sale of beer by the glass.

In reply to the delegation's suggestion, Premier Oliver made it clear that it is the Government's intention as hitherto in dealing with the liquor question, to leave the matter wholly to the Legislature, untrammelled by any party consideration. He promised full consideration of the representations made.

The delegation was composed of Major J. H. Gillespie, president of the Liberty League, and Messrs. C. T. Cross, F. J. O'Reilly and Robert MacNeil, of Victoria, and Messrs. H. O. Bell-Irving and W. E. Hodges, representatives of the Vancouver League of Vancouver. The delegation was introduced by Capt. Ian Mackenzie, Liberal member for Vancouver.

Strongly Supported

Stating that the delegation was present to urge a beer clause, Mr. Bell-Irving presented a huge bundle of petitions favoring the sale of beer by the glass which, he explained, were signed by voters to the number of 10,814 from eighty-one points, all being obtained in a bona fide manner. There was no question that had a concerted effort been made ten times the number of signatures could have been obtained. In addition to these petitions, he presented copies of resolutions received from twenty-three points in the Province from ex-service organizations and other important bodies.

"Our main object is to urge 'once more' that the Moderation Act be amended such that the general public, the working man, may obtain a glass of wholesome beer at a moderate price," said Mr. Bell-Irving, who pointed to the existing condition of unemployment and evidence of discontent, and held that men accustomed to secure beer but who are unable to get it, are more prone to discontent. The present system where, under drinking can only be carried on in hotel bedrooms was most objectionable, he considered, and should not be permitted, for excess is far more likely if drinking is so carried on surreptitiously, to say nothing of attendant evils.

Means Real Temperance

A beer clause in the present act permitting of the purchase of beer by the glass is very generally supported throughout the Province, Mr. Bell-Irving said. It would conduce to temperance, and, as beer is mainly a home product, the economic advantage of retaining the money in the Province, rather than sending out vast sums as at present, was apparent. The record of the Moderation and Liberty Leagues showed them to have conscientiously worked in the interest of temperance. In his opinion the liquor question has been dealt with on more sane and reasonable lines in Quebec than elsewhere. There a large, contented population, chiefly agricultural, was finding their regulations working most satisfactorily.

"We hope you will give this matter earnest consideration. It is one that should be above any party politics," said Mr. Bell-Irving.

Premier Oliver: "How long has the Quebec Act been in operation?"

"About a year," said Attorney-General Farris.

Hon. William Sloan inquired whether the moderation bodies had given any attention to the method of dealing with the beer question.

On Broad Basis

Mr. Bell-Irving replied in the negative, stating that they had carefully refrained from going beyond the broad principle of advocating sale of beer by the glass.

Major Gillespie, in presenting a petition from the towns of Prince Rupert and Stewart urging an amendment to the act to permit of the sale of beer, stated he heartily supported the remarks of Mr. Bell-Irving.

Mr. C. T. Cross recalled that when the delegation called upon the Government urging that the plebiscite be submitted to the people it had asked that but the two questions be put, whether the then Prohibition Act should stand or there be government control and sale of liquor in sealed packages. Since the passing of the plebiscite the prohibitionists were claiming that government control and sale in sealed packages should be strictly adhered to, though prior to the vote being taken that had not been their attitude. He cited the attitude taken by Mr. Thomas Richardson, paid prohibition supporter and speaker, who had declared that a vote for government control was giving a blank cheque to the Government, that under the plebiscite the Government had a perfect right to deal with the whole liquor question as it saw fit. Since the passing of the plebiscite pressure has been brought by the prohibitionists to confine the sale of liquor strictly to the principle of the sealed package.

"It is my belief that the Government could, under the plebiscite, reopen the old bar if it saw fit," said Mr. Cross.

"It seems to me the prohibitionists have been peculiarly silent and any move being made comes from the other side," remarked the Premier. "The prohibitionists recently held a convention and discussed the question," suggested Attorney-General Farris.

Do Not Favor Bar Premier Oliver recalled he had put a definite question to Mr. Bell-Irving. Did they want the return of the bar, and stated he did not want to see it.

"Nor do we want it today," emphatically stated Mr. Cross. "But we do desire to see opportunity given to the ordinary man to secure a glass of beer if he desires it."

Mr. Robert MacNeil stated it must appear to every right-thinking person that at present a serious condition prevailed. Had there been granted at the last session a reasonable beer clause matters would have been much better. The present act was simply class legislation, driving people who could afford it into hotel rooms to do their drinking in secret. He instanced cases to show the bad effects of the present system, and he held that the Attorney-General, no matter how strong he might be, cannot adequately enforce the present legislation. "Give us a beer clause that will permit a man who wants it to get his glass right out in the open," urged Mr. MacNeil.

Stating that since the passing of the plebiscite and bringing into effect of the act, a condition has arisen not then anticipated, Premier Oliver said that personally he could not see how government control and sale in sealed packages could mean free sale by the glass. It had been the distinct understanding that the liquor legislation should be worked out in the Legislature, untrammelled by any party influence, and that was the course pursued, whether rightly or wrongly. The act had been in force hardly five months, and now it was suggested that a very considerable change should be made. It might be argued that the act had not been effective sufficiently long enough to demonstrate its strength or weakness.

Up to Members Premier Oliver pointed out that when the plebiscite was held the sale of beer was in vogue, and there was nothing to indicate that that sale would not continue, but the Legislature had seen fit to stop that sale.

To that extent there had been a marked change. Speaking for himself, he said, he proposed to leave the whole question to the Legislature, free from party politics, but it was the duty of the Legislature to say whether effect should be given to the request, professed or not. That was the only consistent course to pursue, he considered.

"How can it be brought up in the House?" queried Mr. Cross.

"When I say I am prepared to leave it to the House, the method of how that is done is one of mere detail," laughingly replied the Premier. "Could a private member—" commenced Mr. Cross.

"I am not going to say how; there are methods and no insuperable obstacles," replied the Premier.

Hon. Mr. Sloan pointed out that a private member had brought the matter of beer before the House last year, and it could be done again.

In thanking Premier Oliver and the Cabinet for hearing the delegation, Mr. Bell-Irving remarked: "If my interpretation of your remarks is correct, you mean that you as a Government are prepared to give every consideration to our request, and that we may have confidence that the matter will be dealt with on broad lines and on its merits, quite apart from party considerations."

"Certainly," replied the Premier, and the interview closed.

UNIONIST CANDIDATE
APPEARS IN SOOKE

Mr. Dickie Delivers Short Address During Social Evening Which Was Enjoyed by Large Number of Residents

SOOKE, Nov. 12.—On Wednesday evening, November 10, the National Liberal and Conservative Association of Sooke held a social evening and dance at the Sooke Hall, by way of introducing the candidate for the coming Federal election to the people of the district. This proved to be one of the largest gatherings ever held at the Sooke Hall, and when the doors opened, at 8 p.m., quite a number were waiting for admittance. It is some years since Mr. Dickie was in Sooke, but, being a man whose life has been in close touch with mining operations, the Leach River diggings and the copper mines of East Sooke are familiar spots to him. Mr. Palmer, of Esquimalt, and Mr. Ernest Miller came with him and much enjoyed the evening.

Shortly after 9 o'clock the chair was taken by Mr. W. Miller Higgs, who stated that this gathering had been arranged by the association in order to give the people an opportunity of knowing the kind of man who is their candidate in the Dominion election and to give him an opportunity also of meeting the people of Sooke and Otter Point, and it was gratifying to see the large number who had come to spend this social evening together. This was, strictly speaking, not a regular campaign meeting, but just a preliminary gathering called that they might all know Mr. Dickie, and he felt sure that before the evening was through they would all have the same high opinion of him as he had, for to know him brought conviction of his worth and various desires to serve the people and the great Dominion of Canada in their best interests. He then called upon Mr. C. H. Dickie, who was heartily received.

Candidate's Views

Mr. Dickie stated that he was out from the start to fight a clean campaign without partialities. He had been chosen to represent the Union Government at the recent convention held in Duncan, and whilst not claiming any powers of oratory he would, if elected, do all in his power to faithfully serve the people he represented in the Federal House in an unselfish and honorable way. He was pleased to see so many ladies present and he was glad to say that the ladies of Cowichan were indeed working hard for him and that after living in that district for many years, which meant a whole lot, as women were not slow in knowing the character of a man, and unless a man had the reputation of playing the same he would stand a poor chance in getting the women's support. He went on briefly to outline the N.L.C. platform; to explain the meaning of the somewhat cumbersome name attached to the party which had been adopted, as so many Liberals had allied themselves upon the side of the Hon. Arthur Meighen, who upon the resignation of Sir Robert Borden had been called upon to lead the great Dominion of Canada through some of the most trying times in its history. Sir Wilfrid Laurier had once said that "Young Meighen was the brightest light among the young Canadians and gave promise of being a great man," and it was Meighen who had led the country through these times of difficulty and whom he was out to support. Mr. Dickie again handled the question of protection versus free trade, and promised to dwell more fully upon this vital question in his campaign meeting later, also upon matters of local interest to the people of the district with which he had been made familiar. This being a social gathering he did not intend to take up the time of the people he was to meet, and he then and to get to know all present personally.

There was loud applause when Mr. Dickie resumed his seat. Capt. John A. I. French moved a vote of confidence in the candidate, and this being put to the audience by the chairman, practically everyone present rose and loudly applauded. Mr. Ernest Miller made a short and impressive speech in support of Mr. Dickie and the Meighen Government, and said how glad he was to again have the opportunity of meeting the people of the district and in any way backing such a man as Charles H. Dickie. The National Anthem was then sung.

Supper was served upon neat little tables down the hall, during which Miss Reid kindly entertained the audience with a song, which was much appreciated. Mrs. C. C. French accompanied on the piano.

The hall was then cleared for the dance, which it was evident no one enjoyed more than Mr. Dickie himself. Excellent music was provided by Miss Florence Muir and Mr. George McIntosh. They were occasionally relieved through the kindness of Mrs. Vogel, of Otter Point, at the piano, and by Messrs. Morris and Martinson with the new accordion loaned by the Sooke Athletic Association.

The heartiest thanks of the N. L.

NANAIMO PIONEER HAS PASSED AWAY

Mrs. Sabiston Had Resided in City for More Than Fifty-Three Years

NANAIMO, Nov. 14.—Mrs. Jane Sabiston, widow of the late Captain John Fleet Sabiston, and one of Nanaimo's earliest pioneers, died at midnight on Saturday at the age of 93 years. The late Mrs. Sabiston was Nanaimo's oldest resident, and probably the oldest resident in British Columbia, having lived in this city continuously for the past sixty-three years. She was born in 1828 at Port Simpson, British Columbia, which was in those days a Hudson's Bay trading post. At Ketchikan she married the late Captain Sabiston and removed to Nanaimo in 1853, taking up residence on Albert Street, where Mrs. Sabiston has resided ever since. The late Mrs. Sabiston is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Cameron, of this city, and Mrs. J. H. Durr, of San Francisco.

NANAIMO NEWS NOTES

ARMISTICE DAY SERVICES AT SOOKE

Tribute Paid to Fallen Soldiers by School Children and Residents of District

SOOKE, Nov. 12.—The eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month, 1918, was not forgotten by at least some of the residents of the Sooke district, for at an early hour on Friday morning, being the third anniversary of that great moment in the history of the world, the Union Jack floated out upon the breeze from the flagpole within the Memorial enclosure in the village, and the empty German cases, brought back from Vimy Ridge, were filled with autumnal flowers, whilst a fitting wreath of ivy leaves and red poppies was placed at the foot of the simple, yet impressive, granite column just above the words "In loving memory of the men from Sooke who died in the great war." Mr. John A. Murray never allows the day upon which any one of the fourteen men whose names are upon the Sooke bronze tablet, died, to pass without the decoration of this monument, and has taken pains to keep a record as far as has been possible, so that none may be forgotten.

Impressive Ceremonies

At 10:45 a.m. the school children, under the leadership of Misses McKinnon, assembled opposite to the memorial stone, where some of their parents also attended. Rev. Thomas Padgug, of Knox Presbyterian Church, spoke a few words explaining why they were met at that spot on the third anniversary of Armistice Day. Then, society at the hour of 11, he called for two minutes' silent prayer. Then followed two verses of the hymn "O God, Our Help in Ages Past; Our Hope for Years to Come," after which Mr. Miller Higgs, at the request of the trustees of the Sooke School Board, gave a short address to the children, reminding them that this was the day when the world was saved from the horrors of the world. That the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month of the year 1918 had indeed been a red-letter day to every man in France, to every man in our ships at sea, to every man who was on leave from action, to every man who was in our hospitals, and, lastly, to all those millions of mothers, wives, children and loved ones throughout England, Scotland, poor old Ireland, Canada, throughout the whole of the great British Empire and the United States of America, not forgetting the Allied countries, nor even the land of the conquered foe. The memory of that moment would never be forgotten. It was certain that memory at least lived on forever. The older a man got the more he remembered of the events which happened in his childhood. Today we remembered especially those boys from Sooke who had paid the supreme sacrifice and had given their all, and they, too, no doubt, just the other side of the veil, remembered us who were carrying on for a few more years of toil here. In memory of these boys he called upon W. O. R. Higgs to blow the "Last Post" on the bugle. The National Anthem was sung, and this tribute to one of the greatest days in this world's history ended in the village of Sooke.

BACHELORS' BALL
GIVEN AT SAYWARD

SAYWARD, B.C., Nov. 8.—A masquerade ball was given by the bachelors of Sayward at Bayview Hall on November 5, Guy Fawkes' night. Bradley's orchestra furnished the dance music. The display of costumes was gay and brilliant, representing Scotland, Ireland, France, Norway, Spain, Russia, and the army; including quite a number of dapper gents and clowns. Charlie Chaplin also made his appearance. Mr. W. Milne and Mrs. O. Skogan, of Sayward, and Mrs. W. Kelby, of Hardwick Island, acted as judges for the occasion, finding it very difficult to decide from so many striking costumes.

The prizewinners were as follows: Best dressed lady, Miss Joey Morton, an early Victorian costume; comic, best dressed man, Mr. A. Henry, Dr. Sawbones; comic, best upholstered lady, Mr. C. Gentry; best dressed bachelors, Mr. Gentry.

Other notable costumes represented a woodpecker, Mephistopheles, Queen Elizabeth, a Dervish chieftain, a Bride and Groom, and Music, a novel affair composed of tall hats, and black peg-top breeches, both having bars of music painted in white over them. Each bar represented a "bugle call" that fitted in with the occasion.

Supper was served by the bachelors at midnight and refreshments were served again at 6 a.m. Dancing continued throughout the night until daylight permitted the merry revelers to drive home.

The affair was a huge success, and the crowded hall spoke well for the bachelors, showing how popular their dances have become by the fact that also parties from Fort Kuum and Hardwick Island.

Mr. E. Williams, M.C., conducted his duties admirably, and great credit is due to all for their splendid management throughout the evening.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY
MEETS AT LADYSMITH

Officers Elected for Coming Year and Financial Report Proves Satisfactory

LADYSMITH, Nov. 14.—A very enthusiastic meeting of the members of the Ladysmith Agricultural Society was held last Thursday evening, the occasion being the annual meeting. There was a large number present when President Verchere called the meeting to order. The minutes of the last meeting, the financial report was presented by the treasurer, Mr. W. A. Callum. There was a balance of $471.

In view of the fact that there had been heavy expenses in connection with the fair, and that there were not as many entries this year, owing to the fact that the season had not been as good as could be desired, and that the Government had seen fit to reduce the already small grant still further, the society had no grounds for regret. The members were determined to increase their efforts and make this year the most successful in the history of the society.

Following the financial report, the grounds committee presented its report. It was a very good one, showing a sum of $1,150 on improvements on the grounds, and had taken in a sum of $125, which leaves a deficit roughly of $1,025. This was a big improvement on the semi-annual report, and the committee received a generous vote of thanks for the work it had done.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Honorary president, Dr. Warnock; honorary vice-presidents, T. A. Spruston and A. G. Verchere; president, J. A. Hartley; vice-president, F. Hogg; secretary-treasurer, W. A. Callum; directors, Messrs. T. H. Porter, H. Butler, Smith, D. Johnson, H. Wright, W. Hutchinson, D. Doherty, A. P. Thicke, L. Grouhel, I. Thomas and McGuire.

The following officers of the grounds committee were elected: Chairman, T. A. Spruston; committee, Messrs. W. Ross, R. Morgan, G. Metre, S. Jones, J. Morgan, A. G. Verchere, E. W. Forsgard and A. Michie.

The need of a hall, which would be more or less of a community center, was fully discussed and a committee was appointed to go thoroughly into the matter.

MASQUERADE BALL
GIVEN AT CUMBERLAND

CUMBERLAND, Nov. 11.—The local branch of the G. W. V. A. held its third annual masquerade ball tonight, and it was a very successful one. The hall was filled to capacity, there being over 100 masked dancers and fully four hundred spectators. Numerous prizes were given, and the display of dresses was by far the most varied ever seen on a floor here. The winners of the prizes were as follows:

Prize walks—Mrs. and Mrs. Pearce; Mrs. McCarthy and F. Slaughter, runners up. The judges for this event were Mrs. Hayward and A. Reid.

Costumes—Mrs. Fraser, Union Bay, best dressed lady; A. Harris, Union Bay, best dressed gentleman; Miss Nora Pearce, Cumberland, best national costume; Mrs. Dixon, Cumberland, best national costume; gentleman, Mrs. W. Marshall, Union Bay, best sustained lady; David Kennedy, Cumberland, best sustained gentleman; Matt Stewart, Rob Robertson and Dave Richards, best comic group; Mrs. J. F. McNally, Union Bay, best comic lady; Sidney Hunt, Cumberland, best comic gentleman; Mrs. F. A. McCarthy, Cumberland, best Red Cross nurse; C. (Toots) Lewis, Cumberland, best hobo; O. H. (Joke) Fechner, Union Bay, best clown; Mrs. L. Little, Courtenay, best local advertising; Mrs. Joseph Bond, Cumberland, best flower girl; Bob Fyvie, Mrs. Rob Walker, Frank Dixon, C. Pearce and Edna Bennie, best Allies group.

Special prizes—Mrs. Doo Christie, representing Flanders poppy; Annie Darryuk, Bower girl; Bill (Cockney) Newman, Zulu; Mrs. Hardy.

Grand Raffle, winning number 447. Judges, W. T. McLean, Bevan, Mrs. Cooke, Courtenay, and Thomas Jackson, Inspector of mines, Nanaimo.

Judging was over by 11:50, when everyone tried to get on the floor, and dancing was carried on until the early morning.

CREDITORS FIGHT FOR VALUABLE COAL MINES

Assets of Bankrupt Pacific Coast Coal Mines, Limited, Again Come Before Supreme Court

Protracted skirmishing among the creditors of the defunct Pacific Coast Coal Mines, Limited, the object of which is to determine the disposition of the Squash and Morden coal mines, the principal assets of the company, was continued before Mr. Justice Gregory in Chambers yesterday, when an application was made to the court to set aside the order of sale of the mines, which those properties shall be sold at the sale under bankruptcy proceedings by the sheriff of Nanaimo, on November 25 next.

Mr. W. V. Brethour, appearing on behalf of Mr. W. J. Aylor, K.C., holder of a preferred judgment against the company for solicitor's costs, in the sum of $10,000, applied to have the order of sale set aside, on the ground that the price of the Morden mine reduced from $300,000 to $150,000; and on the Squash mine from $200,000 to $100,000. Mr. Brethour also applied that the order be set aside on the grounds and chattels of the company.

Mr. Brethour said that he desired the order made so as to comply with an order made in the terms asked by His Honor Judge Barker, who made such an order on the application of Henderson, counsel for the Canadian Bank of Commerce and for Mr. John Arbutnot, judgment creditors of the bankrupt company in the sum of $143,000; and Mr. E. V. Finland, on behalf of the Prudential Trust Company, mortgagees of the coal company in the sum of two million dollars, opposed the application.

Mr. Justice Gregory adjourned the application on the understanding that it should first be referred to Mr. Justice Morrison, who has already dealt with various applications in respect of the matter, as reported last week in The Colonist.

CARE OF RAZORS

Shaving and the care of the razor are almost a science. The man who keeps his razors in good condition, especially in the winter, is often envied. And yet the art is within the reach of all.

Of the dozens of razors sent to me every month because they will not "go," nearly four-fifths are spoilt in the handling. A razor is a delicate piece of machinery, and it is too heavy to be treated with the greatest care, the costliest razor will "pull" like an inferior one.

First, see to it that your strap hangs from a point not higher than the waist-line. Straps all razors both before and after using them, having previously removed all soap by means of hot water.

The finer the edge the more lightly it should be stropped. In some cases the bare weight of the blade is too heavy to say nothing of the laying on of additional weight with the hand.

Now and again a razor is temporarily spoiled through rough shaving against the grain. No matter what kind of razor be used, you should shave with the run of the hair, and never shave against it. So light is the touch of the native.

WAS TROUBLED
For Over Four Months

When the liver becomes slow, sluggish and torpid it is not working properly and does not supply sufficient bile to thoroughly act on the food. The result is a mass of waste products of the system, hence the bowels become clogged up, the bile gets into the blood, constipation and in and liver troubles follow, among which are sick or bilious headaches, heartburn, water brash, jaundice, floating specks before the eyes, pain under the right shoulder, coated tongue, bad breath, yellow eyes, etc.

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS quickly remove the secretions, clear away the waste and waste matter by acting directly on the liver, and making the bile pass through the bowels instead of allowing it to get into the blood.

Mrs. Alice Mehill, Napanee, Ont., writes: "I was very badly run down for over four months. I tried several remedies, but got no relief. One day I bought a box of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and before I had used half of it I was much better. I feel like a new woman and I am a different person today."

Perfect Frying Results

Good cooks know that proper regulation of heat is essential if perfect frying results are to be secured. They know that this is not possible with ordinary fry pans because they do not spread the heat evenly all over.

Their preference is for the "Wear-Ever" Aluminum Fry Pan because its metal takes the heat quickly and evenly—does not concentrate it in spots.

"Wear-Ever"
Aluminum Fry Pans

can be used for many purposes.

For general frying—eggs, potatoes and fritters.

As a deep fat fryer for croquettes and crullers.

It is especially excellent for cooking breaded veal cutlets or other breaded meats which need slow, uniform cooking and are most palatable when cooked without any extra moisture.

"Wear-Ever" Aluminum Fry Pans should not be confused with ordinary aluminum fry pans. There is a difference. "Wear-Ever" Fry Pans are made from hard, thick sheet aluminum which has been subjected to the tremendous pressure of gigantic rolling mills.

Dealers now have "Wear-Ever" Fry Pans in stock.

Indian barbers that they can shave a customer while he is asleep, and this without waking him.

For instruments seem to go wrong so easily as a razor. Perhaps this is because they are so rarely understood.

Viewed through a microscope, a razor's edge consists of innumerable points, or teeth, the unbroken regularity of which goes to make up the blade's excessive keenness.

Often when a razor "pulls" it is due to these minute teeth being out of alignment.

The "cure" for this is to lay aside the razor for a week or two, during which time the fine particles will rearrange themselves.

This done, pour a drop of good machine oil on the hone and "touch up" the blade carefully, when its former non-pulling edge will be restored.

Out of use, a razor retains its edge better than the hone makes. "Touch up" the blade carefully, when its former non-pulling edge will be restored.

Many razors are spoilt by amateurs who try to do their honing themselves instead of employing an expert. For the proper performance of this operation a razor should be laid flat on the hone, before it is hollow-ground and requires a fine edge, whereas a pocket-knife blade needs holding at an angle of about 25 degrees.

Lots of people who complain that they cannot shave properly attribute the fault to their razor, when it is really the result of bad lathering.

The more the beard is lathered the softer it will become. To scamp this part of the performance in order to save time or trouble makes the morning shave a terror to thousands instead of a pleasure.—Razor Setter in Daily Mail.

POPPY DAY SUCCEEDS
WELL IN MONTREAL

MONTREAL, Nov. 14.—That the national poppy day campaign on Armistice Day in this city has proved a success is shown by the total of over $25,000 in cash and cheques in hand, with some promised donations still to come, as announced Saturday night.

This is stated to be probably the largest sum ever raised in Montreal by means of a one-day collection of the tag variety.

DUKE OF DEVONSHIRE
BAITED BY ROWDIES

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The Duke of Devonshire was given an extremely hostile reception when attempting to address a League of Nations meeting at Chiswick, and it was impossible for him to speak. The animus against him was ostensibly inspired by his being a land owner in that district, although it was obvious that the disturbance had been carefully organized by a section of the community which regularly practices disorder at public meetings.

ASK WOMEN TO FORMULATE BILL

Mrs. Norris, in Paper Read to Women's Institutes Conference, Urges Suggestions for Advancing Woman's State

Legislation as it affects women and children was the subject of the following excellent paper read by Mrs. Norris, convener of the Legislative Committee, at the meeting of the Island Conference of Women's Institutes held here recently:

As far back as can be traced the interests of the people have been served by the making of laws for their protection, and legislation in its best sense is the framing and carrying out of such laws as will tend towards the best interests of the greatest number of people represented under those laws. The underlying force of all law is truth and justice, and these fundamental principles should be well considered before a law is framed and adopted. As Women's Institutes are under the laws of the country in which they are formed, it is well to have a knowledge other than superficial of these laws by which they are governed, not only for present guidance, but for future consideration and amendment, if such laws are found harmful to the cause of justice and right.

It is not enough to protest and pass resolutions condemning a stupid or bad law. We must bring all our forces to bear against this law. It must be treated like a noxious weed and destroyed, and, when necessary, another law which makes for justice and right be framed to take the place of the one condemned.

Protection of Mothers

The object of Women's Institutes being the helping of others, much attention should be given by them to the framing of laws beneficial to women, especially to mothers, for in no other way can benefits be made which will be so far-reaching. In benefiting the mothers we benefit the world. It was my good fortune to be associated with the pioneer movement for the uplifting of women in Texas some years ago. The high courage and serenity of demeanor and steadfastness of purpose shown by that little band of women will never be forgotten. The narrowness of a woman's life at that time in the South made it extremely hard to break away from the beaten path, hedged in, as it was, by conventionalities. And the many, alienated made progress very difficult. Many subjects that came within their province which required legislation were so difficult, and it was hard to get hearing. But by perseverance we at last did get one, and in two years had changed two of the most iniquitous laws in the State. The age of consent was raised from eleven years, first, to eighteen, then to twenty-one. The other change embraced a law which allowed a husband to withdraw any money his wife might have in the bank without her signature, although she could not touch a penny of his money unless rightfully covered by this signature. This change was helped forward by the bankers and lawyers of the State, the bankers refusing to hand over the money without the wife's signature, and the lawyers in convention at Fort Worth stamping this second iniquitous law with ridicule.

Conditions at Home

While conditions in British Columbia may not be identical with those just depicted, we know that the laws in this Province governing the women and children are anything but ideal, and it behooves us, as intelligent women, to look into these conditions and the laws governing them. We should also study well the principles embodied in the various platforms of those seeking office that we may become intelligent voters. We have clamored for the vote, and it is ours. Representation is ours. A voice in the laws of our country is ours. We have voluntarily assumed this great responsibility, and we must not evade nor shirk the issue.

Women's Institutes have been recognized from their inception as a power for good. Through their efforts and influence much may be done to help forward what is known as

I'm So Tired

Fatigue is the result of poisons in the blood. So when the kidneys fail to purify the blood one of the first indications is unusual and persistent tired feelings and pains in the back.

Neglected kidney troubles lead to years of suffering from rheumatism or develop into such fatal ailments as Bright's disease.

The kidney action is promptly corrected by use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills — the best known regulator of kidneys, liver and bowels.

Mrs. John Ireland, R.R. No. 2, King, Ont., writes:

"I was a great sufferer from severe headaches and bilious spells. I tried a number of remedies without obtaining any benefit until I was advised to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These promptly relieved me and made me feel like a new person. I am very grateful to Dr. Chase's medicines for what they have done for me, and you may use my letter for the benefit of others."

the "Woman's Movement," that great movement which has so stirred the world and to which we owe the present status of woman, with its liberty of thought and act.

I find the Women's Institute's power for good has not often been used for legislation. We are far behind other organizations in this respect. Except in two instances, the agitation for mothers' pensions and for better schools, not much has been done towards legislation. In the questionaire sent out to the Institutes by the Provincial Department of Agriculture, to whom we owe much for smoothing so many of the rough places for us, I was pleased that a special place had been given to legislation. Two of the subjects mentioned should receive the instant attention of every member of Women's Institutes in the Province of British Columbia. I refer to the study club on humane legislation and the act concerning the welfare of women and children. I might also add a third subject, which comes under another head, familiarizing ourselves with the Public Schools Act. These should be made subjects of discussion at regular intervals until each Institute has become familiar with all details. Child welfare, too, should be studied thoroughly and a ready co-operation be entered into with those who have its interests in charge. In this connection a league has been formed in the United States to care for the illegitimate children. This league's agenda is as follows:

Protection of Children

To get a square deal for the fatherless child.

To lend a hand to the unmarried mother.

To look for the man in the case and make him share the responsibility. Pre-natal care should be given the mother, and a home and mother provided for every baby.

Public control of all lying-in hospitals, through licensing and registration of every birth, with support for every child till it is at least 14, with protection and education provided.

Lucy Oppen, in an article on this subject, says: "The weakest link in our chain of child welfare work is the unnumbered nameless little ones, and so chain is stronger than the weakest link. No mother's child is safe until every mother's child is safe." The league has taken this last for its slogan: "No mother's child is safe until every mother's child is safe." Massachusetts has always had good laws and taken care of these little nameless ones. In Minnesota and North Dakota there are no nameless ones, these States holding both parents alike responsible for the welfare of the child. Further south the laws are deplorably lax. The fundamental principles which underlie constructive laws are of little use here, as the laws in each State are so divergent, and a decree can be nullified by stepping from one State into another.

Fifty years ago, in Boston, a society was formed for helping destitute mothers and infants by Miss Clarke, who is still alive, though infirm. This was later merged into "A Conference on Illegitimacy," and the good work begun by one woman carried forward on a larger and perhaps better scale. Steps were taken to remove the stigma of illegitimacy from the innocent child and lighten the burden of the mother.

There is a movement to draw all States in the Union into this conference, each State having its own conference, with a general conference once a year. Owing to the lack of uniformity in the laws of the States, this may prove difficult, though already nineteen States have fallen into line, and women in all of the States are interested in its success.

Maternity Legislation

Another step in the right direction, and one of the greatest triumphs of modern legislation, is the passing of what is known as the Sheppard-Towner, or Maternity Bill, which was passed by the United States Legislature on June 30 of the present year, 1921. This bill provides an appropriation by the United States Government of the sum of $150,000 each year, beginning 1920, for the "Public Protection of Maternity and Infancy." $10,000 will be paid annually to each State under certain provisions. Subject to these provisions an additional sum of $40,000 is appropriated each year until 1926, when the maximum of $4,000,000 is reached. These additional appropriations will be apportioned among the States in proportion to their population, and only on condition that such State thus benefited shall appropriate an equal sum, to be used for the purpose designated. The United States Government has created a Federal board, consisting of the Secretary of Labor as chairman, the chief of the Children's Bureau as executive, the Surgeon-General of the United States Public Health, and the United States Commissioner of Education.

This Federal Board will have charge of the administration of the funds; and its duty will be to have made such studies, investigations and reports as will promote the efficient administration of the Act under which this board has been incorporated. A State Board will be organized on the same lines by each State to co-operate with the Federal Board; and the Act provides that the Federal Board shall administer the provisions of this Act through the State Board of Health if that organization has a hygiene or child welfare division, the Act being administered through this division. If the Federal Board requires, the State Board will appoint advisory committees, and provide that at least half serving on advisory committees be women. This is one of the most important Acts ever passed to benefit women. It created the widest interest in the United States, being sponsored by Mrs. Frances Parkinson Keyes, a staunch Republican, whose home is in New Hampshire, and by Senator Sheppard, a strong Southern Democrat, who comes from Texas, with representatives from the intermediate States. It took strong courage and patient waiting to get the bill through the Senate, but great was the reward to those who had worked so untiringly to this end when the bill was announced as having passed by 43 to 7.

This bill should appeal strongly to the Women's Institutes of Canada. It is one of the things the whole world should be interested in forwarding. Think what it would mean to so many prospective mothers to know that every care would be taken of them through this trying period, and that provision, financial and otherwise, had been made to help them through the greater trial.

Senator Sheppard, in speaking for this bill, said:

"The mother who faces death in childbirth is as much a soldier as the uniformed hero on the field of arms."

Is Crerar Right and the leading Statesmen of the World all wrong?

WHAT DOES CRERAR SAY? Here are his exact words:

"I stand opposed to the principle of Protection as being neither sound economically nor right morally."

Yet, since the war, the trend in all other important countries is towards increased Protection. Tariffs are going up the world over.

The various peoples are adopting this means of defending themselves, and are trying to establish their industries through their home markets, so as to produce on a larger scale at lower prices and thus be in a position to battle for the markets of the world.

This Spring, the Fordney Bill shut out from the United States over $168,000,000 worth a year of Canadian farm products, and the proposed new tariff of the United States will further reduce Canada's trade with that country.

In Japan, higher tariff protection was demanded, and as a result early this year the duties on the more important articles were materially increased.

France, Italy, Spain, Switzerland, Austria, Roumania and the Balkan States have made substantial increases in their customs tariffs since the Armistice.

Even England, the stronghold of Free Trade, has found it necessary to protect her producers and manufacturers, and very substantial duties have been imposed. Australia also has turned strongly protective.

CRERAR asks you to believe that all these countries are foolish, that their fiscal policies are morally wrong and economically unsound, and THAT HE ALONE IS RIGHT.

A Beneficent Measure

Madam Chairman and Representatives of the Institute—I have tried to compress into this small pamphlet some of the burning questions of the day relative to laws which will make for the future good of women and children. Owing to limited space I have only been able to touch upon them, but I wish particularly to call to your attention the Sheppard-Towner Bill, which appeals most strongly to me, in that it covers a wider field than the others mentioned. In this bill the young married woman is reached, as well as the more unfortunate one. This has always been a crying need, but one hard to meet, inasmuch as self-respecting people refuse assistance from the individual. In the provisions of the bill it is the Government offers the help, as just due to the mother who faces death in childbearing.

It would be well if the Women's Institutes of British Columbia would join to formulate a bill similar to the maternity bill, to meet the needs of Canada. We should be making for the best interests of Canada's future in doing so. Shall we not, then, by propaganda and every other means at our command bring to the notice of the women of British Columbia the necessity for this campaign and the great work to be accomplished?

It will take time and patience, I grant, but we will, in doing this, make for higher ideals, broader sympathies and clarity of vision. As all work is reactionary, we will in this way be better fitted to fill our place in our local institutes. I might go further and say in all walks of life. I now leave this question to the women of the institutes, asking that the subject be dispassionately and earnestly considered, feeling sure, if it is well considered, their intelligence will at once grasp how beneficial to Canada such a law would be, and that it is only right that this law should be sponsored by the women of Canada, especially by the women of the institutes.

The importance of legislation cannot be overestimated. It is only in this way that we can meet the great crises of the day. In British Columbia the need for reform is very great in the laws affecting women and children. Some of these laws are really appalling, and the women of the Province should band themselves together with one accord to agitate this matter until these laws are amended, or, better still, repealed.

In conclusion, I recommend that Mrs. Helen Macgill's little book on the laws regarding "Daughters, Wives and Mothers," be included in every Institute's curriculum of study for the coming year.

TRADE WITH RUSSIA

The government slowly learns by experience. Sir Robert Borne, who signed on behalf of the British Government the Russian Trade Agreement of last March, admitted, in his speech at Glasgow recently, the failure of that agreement. The sign he said, "has been defeated by the Russian famine, and also by the fact that the extremists in Russia have been more anxious to spend their gold on propaganda than change it for the goods they require. "To send goods to Russia," he added, "is to make them a present of them, and we are not in a position to make presents to anybody." We may take this, we presume, as an authoritative statement that the Government no longer believes that trade with the Bolsheviks is possible, and although the Chancellor of the Exchequer defends the trade agreement on the general ground that the recovery of Russia is impossible apart from healthy commercial penetration, the fact remains that the policy embodied in the trade agreement is now declared inoperative. No one disputes that trade with Russia is eminently desirable. The question is whether it is possible to establish normal trade relations with the Bolsheviks. The experiment has been tried, and Sir Robert Borne publicly declared that it has failed.—London Times.
